Shows How Bond Issue Would Be Used To Solve City's Problem

BUILDINGS LISTED

Detailed Explanation Given of Plans for Eliminating Present Congestion

Editor's Note—The four preceding articles on the school bond issue have elicited so much favorable comment on the question to be voted on a week from today that there remains little doubt of the approval of the voters. But the entire public school question is one where the confidence of the citizens is of tremendous importance in the direction of school affairs and the attitude of the school children. Therefore it is to be hoped that the bonds can be passed by a great deal more than the necessary 55 per cent vote. The Star, after thoroughly canvassing the whole situation with school authorities is so completely convinced of the importance—and in fact the economy—of approving the bonds that we urge you to read this, the fifth article outlining the conditions that necessitate the bond issue.

BY HARRY S. ELLIOTT
Marion Star Staff Writer

Occasionally the public is asked to authorize tax proposals and bond issues without being provided with exact and clear information showing the manner in which the money will be expended. Under such circumstances voters as a rule are not inclined to give their approval to the projects and they are fully justified in taking that attitude.

No such situation exists in connection with the $750,000 bond issue for school building purposes which is to come before citizens of Marion in the November election. Before submitting the proposal the city board of education definitely outlined its building program so that everybody might know just how and where the money will be used.

It is shown how the new buildings and enlargement of present buildings to be financed by the bond issue will establish a proper distribution of pupils throughout the city and eliminate the present overcrowded condition which seriously handicaps the community's educational system and also endangers the physical welfare of many children now housed in quarters actually unfit for use.

Summary of Program

Summarized the program provides that the $750,000 shall pay for addition of 11 rooms to four of the present buildings together with necessary heating and sanitary improvements for construction of two new buildings, one for a grade school and the other for a junior high school, with purchase of sites for both and also for a senior high school site of adequate size.

The site for the senior high school

"IRON CHANCELLOR OF THE AIR"

In the face of discouraging weather reports over the Atlantic, Dr Hugo Eckener (above), designer, builder and commander of the Graf Zeppelin, ordered the big dirigible 'walked' out of her Lakehurst, N. J., hangar and swung her skilfully into the wind for his transatlantic take off. The great airship is expected to reach Friedrichshafen in 80 hours.

Silver Says Hoover Will Poll Half Million More Votes Than Smith In Ohio

Republican Chairman Looks for Cooper To Win by Majority of 300,000 in Gubernatorial Race. Turner Gives Ruling on "Split Ticket"

Columbus, Oct. 30—The prediction that Herbert Hoover will carry Ohio by 500,000 votes over Gov. Al Smith and that Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican gubernatorial nominee, will win by a majority of at least 300,000 was made here today by Harry D. Silver, chairman of the Republican state campaign committee.

"I realize it is an easy matter to prognosticate on elections," said Silver. "This prediction however is not a mere guess. We have studiously compiled reports from every county in the state. These reports were submitted to us by local chairmen, newspaper editors and careful observers.

"In most cases, we have had several estimates from each county. These have been carefully compared and averaged. Based upon these reports Cooper should be elected by at least 300,000—perhaps more, since our estimate has been deliberately conservative," continued Silver.

The reports further show that Mr. Cooper will carry from 75 to 80 of Ohio's 88 counties, Silver claimed. Hoover will carry Ohio by 500,000.

The secretary of state's office today was in receipt of a ruling by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, that voters in the Buckeye state cannot "split the ticket" on presidential electors unless they place an X opposite the name of each elector whom they wish to support.

Each voter is entitled to vote for 24 presidential electors, Turner pointed out. If the voter wishes to support one Democratic electoral candidate and 23 Republican candidates, he or she must designate each favored candidate with an X, Turner held.

The Greatest News
15 Billions To Spare

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

FAR above the ocean, flying back to Germany the great "Graf Zeppelin" is homeward bound. The world admires the efficiency of the German engineers and builders, and congratulates the brilliant air captain Dr. Eckener.

And the world's small boys will envy one American boy making the trip as a stowaway.

WITH the election only one week away Wall Street still refuses to be frightened, to shiver or shake, or lower prices. In fact prices go up.

* * *

IT must be that high finance does not take seriously the kind of "centralism" attributed to Governor Smith.

As a matter of fact everybody knows it is government or "state socialism" that Mr. Hoover had in mind. That was invented by Bismarck and doesn't frighten anybody. On the contrary it is a good thing, as Germany has discovered, after you get used to it.

THE most important news in the world has nothing to do with the election or the intelligence of the "golden flapper," highly prized by national authorities. The year's important news deals with a giant telescope, a 200 inch mirror that will reveal to the eyes of men hundreds of millions of new stars and distant universes.

* * *

APPALLING to man's feeble intellect is this instrument that will bring within reach of our eyes the light of nebulae in a far off universe that has been traveling through space a billion years at a speed of 186,000 miles a second.

MR. RASKOB, a brilliantly able business man, said, probably out of a desire to please political associates, that our prosperity is not genuine. The General Motors Co., for which he has done good work, seems not to share his opinion, judging by the price of its stock and the size of its dividends.

* * *

MR. MELLON, secretary of the treasury, thinks our prosperity is sound enough and so do others of financial ability.

Frederick Ecker, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., says the main element in prosperity is the wage earner's back log.

WORKERS in this country earn about ONE HUNDRED BILLION dollars a year.

There is a good deal of extravagance and waste but in spite of that, not more than 85 per cent of the earnings is spent. This means that the people earn each year FIFTEEN BILLIONS more than they spend.

* * *

EVERY year, after paying their living expenses, the people have left over fifteen thousand million dollars, 50 per cent more than the gigantic sum lent to Europe in the war by this country.

The "real surplus" comes in EVERY YEAR.

That is a substantial back log to keep the prosperity fires burning.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR., in memory of his mother, gives to the University of Chicago $1,000,000 "to promote the religious idealism of students of the university."

THOSE unfortunately numerous that do exist WITHOUT religious idealism, never lifting their eyes from the ground to contemplate and question the heavens, and the glory that they declare, are like the men living in Plato's cave, their backs to the light, knowing only shadows on the walls.

MR. RASKOB says that Pennsylvania is CERTAINLY going Democratic.

Republicans say the solid South is CERTAINLY smashed.

Governor Smith now traveling through it in the last few days of the campaign may change conditions. His last minute trip indicates that his managers are worried about the South.

New York, Oct. 30—The Graf Zeppelin is not making the speed on her transatlantic homeward trip that had been expected of her.

At 8 o'clock this morning (Marion time), the Graf was in the position of 40 west and 52.30 north and her speed had been reduced to 40 knots an hour owing to bad weather, according to word received by International News Service.

The airship was 600 miles east of the New Foundland coast and 1,100 miles from Ireland. Commodore Eckener expects to pass over the Irish coast Wednesday noon.

Far Out Over Atlantic Ocean

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 30—With 24 passengers, a crew of 40 and one stowaway aboard, the Graf Zeppelin today was believed to be far out over the Atlantic on a course slightly north of the shipping lanes, on its return flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

Reports that the huge craft had been sighted at two places over New Foundland last night indicated that Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf, had decided to go north of the Lindbergh route, which it was first thought Eckener changed his course in order to avoid a gale of hurricane proportions coming out of the south west. At times he flew at an altitude of more than a mile to avoid fog banks.

Graf Believed Heading South

Hamburg, Oct. 30—The general belief in German aviation circles today was that the Graf Zeppelin was heading south to avoid storms over the eastern part of the North Atlantic.

The government weather station here today reported violent gales and rain between the forty sixth and fifty seventh north parallels of latitude and tenth and thirty third west parallels of longitude.

Good weather conditions and following winds also were reported below the forty sixth parallel as far south as The Azores. It is believed Dr. Eckener is heading south to take advantage of these.

School Bond Issue Facts

Do You Know That the Ratification of the School Bond Issue at the Election Nov. 6:

1. Will make it possible for the Board of Education to keep our children on full time school program?
2. Will prevent waste of the tax-payers' money in providing emergency quarters?
3. Will relieve congestion in elementary rooms that now affects 1582 children?
4. Will take 208 children out of unsatisfactory rooms?
5. Will enable the junior high schools of Marion to qualify for a charter under the regulations of the state department of education?
6. Will relieve conditions of congestion at Harding High School that now endanger the standing of our one senior high school?
7. Will insure Marion children the same school privileges as those that are enjoyed by the boys and girls in Findlay, Bucyrus, Mansfield, and other Ohio cities?

KLAN AND DRY LEAGUE HIT IN SMITH SPEECH

Democratic Nominee Returns to New York After Address in Baltimore

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 30—Leaving behind him a ringing defiance to the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan to do their worst to him next Tuesday, Gov. Al Smith returned to New York today to wind up his campaign for the presidency.

Save for the short trip across the Hudson tomorrow night to Newark, Governor Smith has now delivered his last speech of the campaign outside New York. He closes the fight this week on home territory.

His spirit fired by the things that he might lose the eight electoral votes of Maryland because of religious opposition to him in rural Maryland, Governor Smith with characteristic audacity, chose Baltimore last night for one of the most sensational speeches of the entire campaign. He ripped into intolerance with both hands, denounced the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan by name and while a breathless audience of 20,000 people hung on every word he said:

"I would rather go down to ignominious defeat than to be raised to the greatest position in the gift of the people by an influence that may be

PREDICTS VICTORY

Brunner Says Davey Will Carry Ohio By 100,000 to 200,000

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30—That Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic nominee for governor, will carry Ohio by a plurality running from 100,000 to 200,000 was the prediction voiced here today by Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee.

"Davey will carry Cincinnati and the balance of Hamilton county by at least 20,000," continued Brunner. "His popularity may run even higher. Hamilton county is the home county of Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, the Republican nominee for governor."

MEET TONIGHT FOR SCHOOL DISCUSSION

All Phases of Building Plan To Come Up at Public Gathering

Every phase of opinion concerning the proposed Marion city school bond issue will be given an opportunity for expression at a meeting arranged by the Marion Civic association. The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Central junior high school building.

Letters announcing the meeting have been sent to the heads of the various organizations, civic groups and clubs of the city. Others interested in the meeting, however, are invited by officers of the civic association to attend.

All phases of the school bond issue are to be discussed. Following a presentation of the proposed plan by Superintendent Jesse H. Mason the meeting will be turned over to an open discussion and question box pertaining to the bond issue.

"Quite regardless of opinion on the matter," the letter sent to organizations states, "it would seem that an evening spent in study and discussion of the bond issue by a body of citizens vitally interested in the welfare of Marion's children, would result in much good."

Practically every social and civic group in the city has indorsed the proposed school bond issue. One of the most important indorsements of recent date has come from the Marion Kiwanis club.

FEAR MUTINY

Joliet Prison Officials Act To Prevent Outbreaks

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 30—Fear of a general mutiny among 3,000 convicts at the Stateville and old Joliet penitentiaries here, today caused Warden Elmer Green to issue several drastic orders designed to prevent the outbreak.

In the dining halls recently guards were booed and the general discontent of the prisoners made known. Precautions ordered by Warden Green include the following:

Extra guards stationed on the walls with machine guns, installation of a lighting system to illuminate the outside of cell houses at night. The searching of all visitors, and the questioning of several of the convicts said to be ring leaders in the mutinous escape plot.

REASSIGN PATROLMAN AFTER MAYOR'S ACTION

Columbus, Oct. 30—Patrolman C. D. Reed of Bexley, Columbus suburb, whom Mayor R. E. Ludwig refused to bind over to the grand jury in connection with the fatal shooting of William Stilwell, 19, on Oct. 6, has been reassigned to duty, it was announced here today.

Reed had been relieved from duty pending the outcome of manslaughter charges against him. Stilwell was shot and killed by the officer when he attempted to resist arrest, witnesses said.

66 MILES OF COUNTY ROAD WORK LISTED

1928 Improvement Program Summarized In Statement by Surveyor

Slightly more than 50 miles of roads in Marion county have been improved this year according to a summary completed by Cecil R. Leavens, county surveyor.

More than 17 miles of this were county roads and were built by the board of county commissioners composed of O. W. Kinnamon, O. J. Hord and W. M. King. The remainder, nearly 12 miles, were built by three townships with the aid of the county. Grading for the township roads has been done by the board of commissioners. Leavens, as county surveyor, has served as engineer for the townships in building the roads.

Besides the 29 miles of improved roads completed this summer there are more than 11 miles which are yet to be finished. Much of this work will be completed this fall. The only county road uncompleted, Leavens' survey shows is the Marion-Marrow Union county road. It is 4.3 miles in length. The Marion county section is located in Richland township. Township roads uncompleted total 7.2 miles.

Rebuilt county and township roads total more than 25 miles, which brings the total mileage of new and rebuilt roads to more than 80 miles. At present there is under petition in Kindowners 15 miles more. Part of this has already been surveyed, according to Leavens. There is also under contract a 50 foot arch concrete bridge in Prospect.

Repair work on roads in the county has taken scrapers over more than 2,000 miles of highways. More than 10,000 tons of crushed stone have

AGENTS TAKE WINE VALUED AT $7,800

Illegal Possession Charges Face Zanesville Man Following Raid

Zanesville, Oct. 30—Charged with illegal possession of liquor, Charles Schultz, this city, was to be arraigned in court here today following a spectacular raid on his home here last night in which the largest amount of wine making paraphernalia and the finished product ever confiscated in this territory was taken, according to the raiders.

A. C. McDougal, Columbus, and Loyd Wine, Adamsville, state prohibition officers, and J. F. Panzle, Roseville marshal, headed the raiding squad which found wine valued at $7,800 in Schultz' cellar as well as a complete plant for the manufacture of spirituous liquors, they said.

Two large loading vans with a crew of 10 men were hardly adequate to care for the mammoth seizure, the raiders said.

From his cell in city prison here today Schultz notified his lawyers that it was his wish that the wine, some of it seven years old, be given to the two local hospitals to be used for medicinal purposes.

LUMBER PLANT BURNED

East Liverpool, Oct. 30—The Newell Lumber Co. yard at Newell, W. Va., directly across the Ohio river from here, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin which swept the plant today. Damage was placed at $23,000 partly covered by insurance.

Lancaster, Oct. 30—Mrs. Pearl Hupkman, 24, a bride of a few months, was dead here today as a result of attempting to start a fire with gasoline yesterday.

W. CENTER ST. PREPARED FOR GALA EVENT

Long List of Prizes Announced for Wednesday Night Program

4 BANDS IN PARADE

Huge Supply of Red Fire, Balloons, Confetti Ready for Distribution

With plans completed for the Mardi Gras to be staged on West Center st. from Main st. to Park blvd. Wednesday night, more than 50 prizes have been listed for various features of the celebration. In the afternoon the Palace theater management is to put on a parade of its own in which 25 prizes will be offered.

Prizes of $25 offered for the best float in the parade and for the best unit of 25 or more children from any one school entering the parade bearing proper banners and insignia are the largest of the list. The second best school group will receive a prize of $15.

A prize of $20 for the best rube band in the parade is second in size. The second best rube band will receive $10 and the third $5. The prizes are contributed by West Center st. business men.

Four Bands In Play

Four bands will be used in the parade, with which the mardi gras will open. They will be the Eagles band, the Municipal band, the Prospect band, and the Harding high school band. The bands will parade in that order.

More than 1,000 sticks of red fire and 3,500 balloons have been ordered for the fete and will be distributed with confetti to all taking part. Dancing has been arranged on the pavement at Park blvd. and Center st. for those preferring modern jazz. Those seeking the more conservative waltz and two-steps will dance at Garden and Center sts. The old fashioned dances will hold sway at Elk and Center sts. Different bands will play at these points.

50 Prize Awards

Fifty prizes of merchandise have been donated by local merchants for the best costumed paraders. Prizes will be awarded to the parader wearing the best costume of the following types: Shoe shine for man with dirtiest shoes, a Sunday dinner for Katzenjammer family. POLICE GET CLUE IN MANSFIELD BOMBING

Plant of Lorain Paper Owned by Holles Damaged by Fire

Mansfield, Oct. 30—Police reported here today that a clue to the bombing of the home of R. C. Holles, publisher of the Mansfield News, had been found and at the same time reported that an effort to fire the Holles plant of the Times-Herald at Lorain, had been made there Sunday afternoon.

The clue, according to police, is an unnamed object which has attached an identification name. What the object is, or the name attached thereto, they refuse to divulge.

At Lorain, an employe discovered a blazing fire in the basement of the newspaper plant, Sunday afternoon. Boxes and papers had been piled high outside the furnace and was lapping at the floor above when extinguished.

Whether these incidents were part of a plot police and Publisher Holles refused to say.

"While the duties of a publisher often require acts that might offend some people," Holles commented here today, "there is not sufficient evidence at this time to justify a statement as to the motives for the bombing."

The Holles home in suburban Mansfield was bombed about 2 a. m. yesterday. None of the family was injured. A neighbor woman reported she saw a small auto drive away just before the explosion.

YOUTH INDICTED ON TWO COUNTS BY GRAND JURY

Cincinnati, Oct. 30—Maurice T. Wessel, 17, was under indictment on two counts here today, one charging first degree murder and the other robbery, an outgrowth of the fatal shooting of George Mayhew, 69, gasoline station attendant, during an attempted holdup two weeks ago.

The indictment was returned by the Hamilton county grand jury here late yesterday.

ENGINEERS MEET HERE WEDNESDAY

100 Expected at State Conference on Sewage Disposal Problems

The second annual Ohio Engineers conference on sewage treatment held in conjunction with the state department of health opens at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in the ballroom of the Hotel Harding. More than 100 sewage disposal engineers from all over the state are expected here for the meeting. C. D. McGuire, chairman of the organization will preside.

Two local city officials will address the conference during its session here. O. A. Benedict, director of public service will deliver an address of welcome to the visitors. Floyd D. Browne, superintendent of the Marion sewage treatment works, will discuss his four years operation of the local sewage disposal plant. Browne will also aid A. E. Hess in his discussion of recent sludge disposal upon which topic Charles C. Hommon, superintendent of the Canton sewage treatment works will speak.

Three other addresses will be given by prominent sewage treatment engineers of the state. The Marion sewage disposal plant will be inspected from 3 to 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The conference will close at 8 o'clock, after the election of officers for the coming year.

Hazen E. Rayl, who is visiting at the home of her father, George ... East Center st., has received word of the death Saturday, of Mrs. Lydia A. Hazen, 76, widow of Edward L. Hazen, which occurred Saturday at her home in Thonotosassa, Fla. Death was due to heart trouble. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Hazen was born north of Prospect and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Johnson. Her marriage to Mr. Hazen took place in 1867. The family lived at Woodland for a number of years and in 1880 moved to Thonotosassa, where Mr. Hazen died in 1914. A son, Daniel Hazen, died in 1914.

Mrs. Hazen is survived by a step-daughter, Mrs. William P. Rayl, Thonotosassa, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Lyons, South Grand av., this city. A step-son-in-law, William P. Rayl, died Sept. 24 this year, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Tyler, Richwood, died in January, this year.

Hazen E. Rayl and Miss Zora Rayl, this city, who were called to Florida by the death of William P. Rayl, were still in Florida at the time of Mrs. Hazen's death. They will probably return home next week.

Graham P. Hunt

For U. S. Senator

"The Anti-Saloon League, consisting in Ohio of twenty-eight individuals, succeeded in nominating the Republican state ticket.

"This same body say they will dig my political grave because I have dared to oppose them. They said the same thing last year when I fought them on the referendum on the Marshall Bill, which they had frightened some timid legislators into passing.

"I fought them then and I am fighting them now because they stand against the peoples' liberties. They stand for Commercialized Courts, speed traps and home raiders.

"Ohio beat the Anti-Saloon League by a majority of 477,000 last year. Unless Ohio has changed her mind she will vote for me on November 6th. Otherwise she will vote for my opponent, who carries the endorsement of this group and who stands on their platform."

—GRAHAM P. HUNT

Graham P. Hunt is pledged to the repeal of the Volstead Law and the elimination of the grave abuses and corruption that have grown up under the Republican plan of prohibition enforcement.

Graham P. Hunt stands solidly opposed to home raiding and the shooting of American citizens by prohibition enforcement officers.

Graham P. Hunt will safeguard the people in their rights as citizens and is fighting to break the alliance between bootleg profits and corrupt political protection.

Graham P. Hunt is for orderly constituted government as against government by the underworld.

If you still believe as you did one year ago when you voted against the outrageous Marshall Bill, protect that vote by voting on November 6th, for Graham P. Hunt.

"Carry On To End" Is Advice of Republican Headquarters

WORK CONFIDENT OF VICTORY FOR HERB

Party Organization Must Continue Activities, Chairman Says

LAST TALK MONDAY

Nominee To Start for California Home Thursday; Plans Stops

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
Marion Star Staff Writer

Washington, Oct. 30—Although confident the American people will elect Herbert Hoover president next Tuesday, the Republican headquarters here today issued an appeal to the party's army of electioneers to "carry on to the end."

Warnings that "overconfidence" alone could defeat the Republican nominee were sent into every seaboard state, to leaders in the agricultural belt and to party chieftains in the mountain states. The Hoover board of strategy took the stand that Hoover will win if the party's organization maintains the speed it has shown to date, until after all votes are counted.

Dr. Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, voiced the Hoover strategy in a radio address last night.

"I would warn all good Republicans and our friendly supporters from all parties that straw votes cannot touch or record the full sentiment or purpose of all voters," said Work. "The results of all straw votes indicate a gratifying predominant faith in our national candidates but there must be no abatement of our efforts to get the vote cast—we must carry on to the end, up to the very hour that the polls close."

Praises Administration

In his address, Work also praised President Coolidge's administration, declared Republican prosperity was the principle issue in the campaign and assailed the Democrats for conducting a campaign of villification.

"I am willing to leave to the judgments formed in the quiet of the family circle the decision between calm and lofty appeals to intelligence and conscience of Herbert Hoover," said Work, "and the outpourings of abuse and ridicule, misrepresentation and flippant criticism, which have constituted most of the speaking campaign of the opposition."

The closing drive of the Republicans meanwhile was centered on the radio. Work and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon spoke last night. Charles Evans Hughes, the 1916 standard-bearer, and Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg will speak tonight. Senator William E. Borah, the "lone wolf" of Idaho, and Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, will speak tomorrow night.

Hoover himself will speak Friday night from St. Louis. Borah will close the campaign Saturday night, while Hoover will make a short address next Monday night from his Palo Alto, Calif., home.

The nominee has completed his St. Louis address. It will deal with the midwest's waterway problem, the agricultural situation and the Republican party's farm relief program and several allied subjects. It will be Hoover's final bid for midwestern votes.

Hoover will leave here at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon on his transcontinental trip, with stops scheduled in Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah and Nevada. He will reach his California home late next Monday afternoon. His trip home will be undertaken to enable him to vote in Tuesday's election.

Better methods have arrived. Why not adopt them?

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

boarded the Zeppelin as the result of a bet with his brother-in-law, G. N. Hall.

This was revealed here today by Clarence's sister, Mrs. G. N. Hall. Clarence until a few months ago had lived with the Halls here.

"The bet was a big joke, of course." Mrs. Hall told newspaper reporters. "Clarence made it long before the Big Zeppelin came to this country. 'How much do you want to bet that I can't crash my way aboard the big ship' Clarence asked George, my husband."

"George laughed. He thought Clarence was fooling. They didn't either of them put up anything. But I guess Clarence must have taken it pretty seriously."

Happy Travelling

"We were naturally all pretty surprised when we heard about Clarence being aboard the Zeppelin. But not as surprised as we might have been, Clarence was always doing surprising things like that.

"He was never happier than when he was traveling. We never knew just where to put our finger on Clarence. It was about five months ago that he slipped off, hitch-hiked his way to the Pacific coast and hid aboard a government cruiser and was taken to Nome, Alaska, and back.

"Clarence didn't have any real business, unless it was caddying," Mrs. Hall said. "He just didn't seem to be able to stay in one place very long."

That Clarence is really a St. Louisian was revealed by his brother-in-law, George Hall, who couldn't hide his pride in Clarence.

"Well, what do you know about that kid," Hall exclaimed when he was told of Clarence's newest adventure. "I sure didn't think he'd ever keep that bet with me.

"Yes, Clarence is a St. Louis boy all right. He was born and raised here and attended the public schools in St. Louis up to a year or so ago. Then Clarence got the wanderlust so bad he just wouldn't stay put."

Boy Assured of Reception

Berlin, Oct. 30—Clarence Terhune, 19-year-old St. Louis youth, who hid in the air liner Graf Zeppelin thereby achieving the distinction of being the first transatlantic air stowaway in history, is assured of the friendliest reception by the Zeppelin Works and the authorities of Wuerttemberg and Friedrichshafen when the Graf lands.

According to plans formulated today, Terhune will be placed in charge of U. S. Consul J. E. Kehl at Stuttgart, who will forward him to Consul General Hurst in Berlin.

"We will try to get him back to the United States in the best possible way although I do not know yet where the funds will come from," Consul General Hurst told International News Service.

It is possible that the American club will furnish money from the emergency fund for stranded Americans.

"He must be a bright boy," said Director Colsman of the Zeppelin Works at Friedrichshafen. "We like him for his enterprise and we shall take good care of him. We had another stowaway when the airship Bodensee was delivered to Rome in 1921. Dr. Eckener was so pleased with the youth's air enthusiasm that he gave him a permanent job. Maybe young Terhune will get a job, too."

KLAN, DRY LEAGUE ARE HIT BY SMITH

Democratic Nominee Returns to New York After Address in Baltimore

exerted by any organization with such perverted ideas of Americanism."

Assails League

He was speaking particularly of the Ku Klux Klan. Just a few moments before he had paid his respects to the Anti-Saloon League, which he denounced as a "propaganda organization," as an organization which had set up an office across from the capitol "to keep an eye on these fellows" in congress.

"Does Mr. Hoover deny that the Anti-Saloon League is a propaganda association?" demanded Governor Smith.

"If he does, I would like to know what he thinks it is. Will Mr. Hoover deny that the Anti-Saloon league has dominated legislators or intimidated officials? He knows differently. So do I."

With this as a starting point, the Democratic nominee went into the subject of the morality of prohibition. And while 20,000 people roared their approval of his sentiments, he declared that opposition to prohibition could not, by any stretch of dogma, be construed to be anti-religious.

Not a Sin, Claim

"You can legislate from now until doomsday," he said, "Every legislative body and every legislative chamber in the world can sit night and day, but you can not make a new sin by law. If it was not cut out on the slabs of stone that were handed down to Moses on the mount, it is not a sin. The Volstead act was only passed in 1919 over the veto of President Wilson."

Governor Smith boldly criticized the churches for their espousal of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, and their making it an issue in this campaign.

"One of the worst things the Anti-Saloon league can be charged with," he said, "is the flood of propaganda they have spread throughout this country in an effort to make God-fearing men and God-fearing women believe that the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are dogmas of religion. No church that I ever heard of, no church that you ever heard of, has attempted to make the Eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act an act of faith."

Blames Republicans

The governor went further than his Oklahoma City speech on intolerance when he directly laid at the door of the Republican party much of the intolerance which he said was characterizing the campaign.

"I have in mind," he said with obvious sarcasm, "that gallant band of patriots known as the Ku Klux Klan. I never heard those words without the thought it sting through my mind what must the American people think after the countless billions of dollars they have poured into the cause of public education to see reared up in a country like ours an organization calling itself 100 per cent. American, without the slightest notion, conception, or understanding of American ideals.

"Certainly," he went on, "nobody would have the harshness to deny that that organization is promoting the Republican candidacy."

In substantiation of his claim that the Klan is receiving support from the Republican managements, Governor Smith cited a public advertisement, published in New Jersey newspapers, which gave notice of a Klan meeting "in conjunction with the Republican national committee."

"I seek support in this campaign only upon the record and upon the pledge and promise of what I am able to do for the benefit of all the people of the United States. I want no support because of my religious belief. I repeat my firm adherence to the American doctrine of separation of church and state.

"'Political activity on the part of the church is the negation of that separation'"

Governor Smith had ample opening for his sensational speech on intolerance from the address of the chairman of the turbulent and enthusiastic meeting, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, also a wet and an uncompromising states rights advocate.

On foreign relations Governor Smith said his policy would be the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

He applied this doctrine particularly to Latin-America.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

Daily Proverb—"The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong."

While we can hardly hold that the signing of an arbitration treaty by the United States and Sweden absolutely assures the peace of the world, let's give the thing the benefit of the doubt and take it that every little helps.

Two college boys down in Atlanta have admitted that they shot two men in holdups for the thrill to be had out of taking human life. Isn't college youth carrying this thrill business somewhat to the extreme?

Premier Stanley Baldwin says that Britain will not start a navy race with the United States. Of course she will not, for the present, at least. She's so far ahead of us now that it would take us ten years to catch up with her.

The Chicago police haven't been able to locate Joe Saltis, the beer baron, but let us give credit where credit is due. A detective sergeant found one of his aides holding up a saloon because it didn't use Saltis beer and shot him dead.

It's a bit odd that two citizens of Macon should have been jailed in Savannah for distributing the bogus Knights of Columbus oath. The birthplace of the klan would be about the last place in which action such as that would be anticipated.

Forty-three million men and women have registered to vote next Tuesday which indicates a vote of 6,500,000 in excess of the total of 29,091,117 four years ago. At this distance, it looks like a landslide even though some may insist that its direction is somewhat dimmed.

Peggy Joyce's manager says she won't wed Lord Northesk, at least, just yet. Which shows that Peggy is a woman of excellent business judgment. No woman has any business marrying into the English nobility unless she has a regular, good paying job.

The crew of four of a French mail plane forced down while flying from Marseilles to Algiers was rescued by a little steamship. The present outlook is that, instead of forcing ships off the seas the development of air transportation will necessitate the building of far more seacraft.

Some surprise is expressed over the disclosure that deaths in New York City for the first forty two weeks of the present year exceeded those of the corresponding period in 1927 by 6,571, the totals for the period being 63,417 and 56,876, respectively. But what else could be expected considering the stuff the New York saloons and night clubs have been selling?

It's hard not to voice resentment over the course of Mrs Allie Heard Moore, only American woman astrologer belonging to the Societe Astronomique de France. Here she waited until nine days before the election and let each old party waste over $1,000,000, its efforts and the patience of the public to its close that the planets say that Hoover's as good as elected! Such procrastination is almost criminal!

Referring to Mr Lowden a wire says that "Republican leaders have about given up hope of the former Illinois governor getting in line for Hoover." If Republican leaders ever had such a hope, it's a cinch they had little foundation upon which to base it. It will be necessary for the searcher to go back quite a way into political history to locate a case where Mr Lowden ever got very enthusiastically into line for anybody save himself.

Renewed Ship-Building Activity.

There is foundation for a lot of solid satisfaction on the part of those who believe that the United States should have a merchant marine commensurate with her importance as a nation in the announcement from Washington that thirty-four modern steamships to range in tonnage from 10,000 to 30,000 and capable of making from fourteen to thirty knots an hour are to be built immediately to fly the American flag.

Such is the information given out by Rear Admiral William C. Cole naval expert attached to the United States Shipping board and R. R. Adams, technical assistant to the Merchant Fleet corporation.

All the vessels, it is declared, will be equipped with Deisel engines, electric drive, and being designed to restore our merchant marine to the high position it occupied in the day of the clipper ships, will be superior in their respective classes to any now afloat. Twenty of them are to be between 20,000 and 30,000 tons and will make better than twenty three knots an hour. They are to go into both the transatlantic and transpacific services. Two are to be express freight ships of 9,500 tons each and two are to be combination passenger ships of 10,000 tons each. Details regarding the remaining ships are being withheld for the present, possibly for the reason that they will be the faster ships and it is not desired to reveal a number of new features which are to be utilized in their construction.

Out of the 20,000 tons figure, according to the Washington announcement, is to be operated between New York and Pacific coast ports. The others are to go into the foreign routes. The express and cargo ships are to run either to Latin American ports, such as Buenos Aires, or take the trip through the canal for ports on the west coast of South America.

Applications for construction of the ships as well as their design have been submitted to the Shipping board and Merchant Fleet corporation and tentatively approved. The concerns building them are to have loans of three fourths of the construction cost by the government, as provided in the White merchant marine bill.

With two exceptions the ships are to be built on the Atlantic coast and supply new activity to now idle shipyards. The two ships to be built on the Pacific coast are to revive two idle yards there. The lack of deep ways for a larger building program makes it impossible to allot more of the building plan on the west coast, it was explained.

This country expended literally billions during the war on shipping. It may have been figured at the time that small vessels were better adapted to the needs of the time than large ones for the double reason that it was not the part of wisdom "to carry too many eggs in one basket" and that more tonnage could be turned out with the facilities at hand in small ships than in large.

In any event, this country built hundreds of ships, with the intention of utilizing them for the transportation of troops and supplies which never saw a day of service and when the war was over we found that they were liabilities rather than assets, that no one wanted to buy them because of the fact that they were obsolete for merchant carrying purposes before they were built and that their upkeep occasioned considerable outlay. The government sold some of them "for a song," that the iron and other metal in them might be salvaged by the purchasers.

Year after year the outlook for a real American merchant marine has been clouded by this awful loss sustained through war expenditures in ship construction and there was little hope of a revival of our shipping industry but the enactment of the White bill manifestly has worked a change and soon American shipyards will again resound with activity but this time very fortunately in the construction of up to date vessels which are to compare advantageously with any of their class afloat.

Mightiest of All Telescopes.

Announcement comes from Pasadena California that a 200-inch telescope four times as large and eight times as powerful as the 100 inch reflector on Mt Wilson, the largest in the world, is to be constructed to surmount some California mountain top suitable for astronomical observations.

To many people 200 inches may not mean so much, but when it is pointed out that its diameter of 200 inches means that the new telescope will be 16 2-3 feet across they will have a better understanding of its planned immensity.

The announcement was made by the California Institute of Technology to which the International education board has made an appropriation to build the telescope, laboratories and shops for its operation. Other scientific institutions and organizations are to cooperate in the cost so that, with the necessary funds raised, the one problem, admittedly a great one and one impossible of solution at this time, is the casting and polishing of the mighty mirror to be placed at the bottom of the tube. Columns upon columns of space have been given to the casting, grinding and polishing of the mirror for the Perkins reflector down near Delaware a disk of but six feet. Think then of what it will mean to produce a mirror 16 2-3 feet in diameter, if the production of the Perkins mirror is heralded as a scientific achievement!

But if success should crown the attempt or attempts to produce such a mirror, it is hardly possible to conceive in the full what it will mean to scientists.

"The proposed telescope," the announcement says, "should make possible the exploitation of many island universes beyond the Milky Way, the nearest two or three of which are now but slightly known. It should tell us something about these spiral nebulae millions of light years distant, and much about the development of the stars of our own system, one of which is the sun with its encircling planets.

"It should solve many of the problems of physics or chemistry that depend upon the enormous masses or temperatures or upon the immense density or extreme tenuity exhibited by celestial bodies in which titanic experiments exceeding the capacity of any terrestrial laboratory are constantly in progress."

Incidentally it should reveal hundreds of millions of stars and hundreds of thousands of nebulae beyond the range of existing telescopes.

There are said to be 30,000 of these nebulae now known, the most remote of which is estimated to be 100,000,000 light years away. That is, the most remote nebula known to man is estimated to be so far away that the light we behold when viewing it, traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, took 100,000,000 years to reach us. With the proposed new telescope it is hoped also to get new light on Millikin's discovery of rays coming to us from space, which are held as probably from the creation of elements of which this world of ours and all other celestial bodies are made.

It's a great enterprise, so great in fact that its very greatness almost estops hope of its successful accomplishment.

THE BIG KICK IN THE ELECTION.

Nutrition Theories.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A reader and friendly critic, living in one of the western states, wants something more advanced regarding nutrition than I appear to be writing, at times. He makes the common mistake of many laymen believing that medicine and all the associated sciences must be making such advances that the "old stuff" is out of date.

My! but I wish this were true! Wouldn't it be wonderful if cancer, Bright's disease, pernicious anemia and many lesser ailments had been mastered by the experts and could be removed by some miracle of modern discovery! Alas! that is not the case.

A few years ago I talked with one of the most outstanding research scientists in North America. I asked him this question: "Just where does the scientific world stand as regards cancer?"

His reply was significant: "Our knowledge of cancer is exactly what our knowledge of tuberculosis was a half century ago." In short, at that time, we knew almost nothing about cancer so far as cure is concerned.

We have made progress since and a good deal of pretty exact knowledge is now at our disposal. But there is a long road yet to travel before we can face the advanced cancer patient with any certainty of relief. We must continue to emphasize that old time but dependable advice—give early and instant attention to any suspicious swelling or a sore which fails to heal.

This is an extreme example of how dependent we are on the "old stuff." But the same argument holds in many things relating to nutrition. From two different experts, men really eminent in the profession, we can get diametrically opposite views as to the diet to prescribe for a given patient or the sort of food one should eat if he is to have health.

The fact is we have many, many theories presented to us but one after another they go into the discard. "Art is long." It has been said and I am sure science is even slower in its process. We rejoice in the reports of the laboratories for they mark progress but the research workers themselves are the last to reach conclusions. They are very, very certain of themselves before they admit a conviction as to the establishment of a new truth.

Perhaps the quotations of part of one sentence from one of the latest authoritative books on nutrition will show what is really the proper scientific attitude toward much of the newer material: "At best technical errors are frequent * * * and interpretation is often difficult."

But we need not be discouraged. There are many fundamental and in the scientific world universally accepted facts that are not yet practiced by many men and women whom I am seeking to reach. Much of this material may seem like "old stuff" to the advanced reader, but it can not be questioned that the simple things of life are often neglected even by him.

Not every one of these articles can be informative to each reader but even the wise will not be hurt if reminded of the plain facts of personal hygiene, health and nutrition. This body of ours is no different from that of our fathers, but I am striving to have the bodies of men and women who live today better treated than our fathers were.

I want every reader to know the place in the dietary of the fats, carbohydrates, proteins and minerals. I want him to get the significance of the different types of vitamins and why they are essential to his welfare. Most of this is "old stuff" in a sense but its practical application every new day determines for each of us the state of health and length of life.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. S. Q.—How can I gain in weight?
2—What is the cause of granulated eyelids?
3—What is the cause of nightmares?

A.—Proper dieting and deep breathing is the secret. You should eat nourishing foods and have plenty of sleep and rest. For full particulars send a self addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—This condition is generally due to some infection. Bathe with mild solution of boracic acid several times a day and apply one per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment at night. However, have the eyes tested to see if glasses are needed.

3—Very often this is due to indigestion or intestinal disturbances. Proper diet and correct exercise will alleviate this trouble. For further information send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column Dr Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self addressed stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr Royal S. Copeland in care of this paper.

Editorial Mention

BY SEA, AIR AND LAND

Mr Elmer A. Sperry, who has turned an interesting scientific toy with erratic qualities to practical uses, putting a gyroscopic mechanical helmsman on ships, providing a stabilizer to prevent them from rolling, devising a means of signalling to avert collisions at sea and helping the aviator to keep his balance in the air and to defy fire, has now turned his attention to the safety and comfort of those who travel on land. It was reported in yesterday's Times that he had perfected an electrical device by which the slightest crack in a steel rail could be detected. It is to be subjected to tests on some of the principal railroads this week but it has already satisfied representatives of the American Railway association who approve it as one of the most important safety moves in years.

Of the mechanical steersman popularly called the "Metal Mike," who holds the ship so rigidly on its course that it is sometimes necessary to relieve "him" when the sea is high, a passenger recently wrote, remembering the experience of Aeneas's pilot:

Now is old Palinurus's occupation gone.
It has been taken over by one named Sperry,
Who has installed a "Metal Mike" instead.
He'll soon be putting one on Charon's ferry.

The human helmsman may sleep and fall off the ship as Palinurus did and yet if the course has been accurately set for his mechanical substitute it will take the ship to its desired haven. Whatever betides he will hold the rudder true.

After all, the gyroscopic machine is but doing what the man has been accustomed to do, whereas the device for revealing defects in rails is more sensitive than any human sight, touch or hearing. No imperfect rail can escape the brand of the detector car which passes over it. The most remote crack interrupts the current. The discovery is reported by brushes and the message is magnified by vacuum tubes so that not only is a registry made in ink on the chart, but the unsound rail is itself marked by paint. So does science continually and persistently employ itself to make human beings safer, more comfortable, whether out at sea, up in the air or on the solid earth.

Whether Mr Sperry ever succeeds in signalling the Martians with a combination of searchlights equalling in candlepower the light of a star of the seventh magnitude, he has at least made the Earthians a little more at ease on their own planet.—New York Times.

Twenty Years Ago

It was Friday.

The officers of the United States battleship fleet were lavishly entertained at dinner in Amoy.

The greater number of the political writers leaned to the belief that Taft would be overwhelmingly elected, the view being that he had 234 votes sure, that Bryan had 148 and that 61—those of Kentucky, Nebraska, Ohio and West Virginia—were doubtful.

Governor Andrew L. Harris addressed a big gathering at the west front of the court house.

The Knights of Pythias of the Fifteenth Ohio district, consisting of the counties of Marion, Union, Delaware and Morrow, held a big meeting here.

It was learned that Miss Bertha Smith and Mr David L. Gompf had been married in Lansing, Michigan, September 30.

The members of Wayside Lodge No. 861 I. O. O. F. enjoyed a pumpkin pie social at their hall.

The Star told of a pleasant surprise given Miss Ethel Jolly of Richwood at the home of her brother, J. W. Jolly, at Morral, by a number of friends.

From Our Readers.

That Bond Issue

Editor Star—I noted an article in your issue of last Thursday in which it was stated that the school bond proposal if passed would provide school facilities for years to come. It should. But why issue this amount of bonds and pay the interest, which will amount to around $40,000 per year, for buildings which are not to be needed for some time? It would seem to be the more sensible plan to provide only those buildings which are needed at this time and to later provide the buildings as they are needed.

The tax rate is now almost unbearable for the laboring man who owns his own home, and to plunge recklessly into debt and increase the tax rate for school buildings, which will not be needed for years to come seems to be rather foolish. No thinking person would deny the children the proper school facilities but it is a certainty that Marion does not need $670,000 worth of schools immediately in addition to those we already have.

Let us vote against this enormous bond issue and defeat it, and then let the school board present a modified program that will take care of the present needs of the schools and that will not make such a burden for the taxpayers and then let us support such a proposal.

Mrs. Goldie B. Wells.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 30—Existence in New York becomes more and more a coin-in-the-slot affair. The first automat was hailed as a fad which would attract the experimentalists for a time and then be dropped as soon as a newer wrinkle popped along.

But the automat is now a part of New York's eat and run living. There are more than twenty in the greater city, attracting all classes of trade including the carriage. There is an appeal in inspecting tempting foods displayed in the glass slots, dropping the coin and carrying the dishes to a table.

The automat on Broadway near the Globe theater is packed day and night and draws an especially heavy after theater patronage. Customers secure change at the entrance and so alluring is the food that all but the regulars purchase more than they can eat.

Hard by the Winter Garden about two years ago a photomaton parlor was opened. One dropped a quarter in a slot, sat inside a little cabinet and in a few seconds out popped a strip of six pictures. County fair stuff, but the invention made its inventor—a penniless immigrant boy—a million.

In the same block now are three other self taking picture shops with a standing line at each. The next step in the metropolitan machinal was a cigaret vending salon. One dropped a coin for his favorite brand, it slid out and a phonograph voice rasped: "Thank you!"

Then came the sodamat which as the name implies is an automatic device for soda water. The patron could secure his choice of ten flavors for a nickel. The sodamat caught public fancy and are now stretched the length of Broadway.

The last word is the vendomat occupying a beautiful polychrome parlor at Sixth avenue and Forty Second street. The floor is of tinted stone leading up to a marble wall holding vending machines. Drinks are mixed automatically before the eye and slide out through a door. The electric self shoe shiner also flourishes.

* * *

New York has innumerable rat-faced lawyers who chase ambulances and otherwise pillage profit from the muck of human woe. Hundreds have been disbarred but remain in the background and operate through confederate shysters who have not. Polite blackmail is their dish and philandering husbands sooner or later fall into the net. In the past year they have been particularly active and Broadway whispers they have collected upwards of $2,000,000 from men who did not care to have foolish and amorous letters read out loud to twelve perfect strangers.

* * *

One little shyster called on a certain gentleman associated with the theater. He had a packet of letters the gentleman had written to a doubtful Juliet and which would tickle a tabloid editor a perfect pink. He requested the modest sum of $50,000. Asked to call a few hours later he was introduced to the theatrical man's wife. "She handles all my legal matters," he explained, indifferently, and left the room. The shyster mumbled something or other and departed in utter confusion. It developed the intended victim had told his wife nothing but staked all on a magnificent bluff. And it worked.

The town has two nonagenarians who are frequent first nighters in silk hats and full evening dress. My idea of a mark to shoot at would be to have a desire under the elm in the first row at the Follies on one's 100th birthday. Or it would be all right with most of us at the century milestone to have Helen Kane sit on a creaking and rheumatic knee and warble "I want to be loved by you! Boo-Boo-Be Doop!"

"I see no reason—Goody! I'm being heckled—"for you to act as spokesman for New York," writes some one who signs himself Native Son and continues: "People who have lived here fifty years can not interpret the voice of the city. Yet after fifteen years you have the nerve to try. Comb that out of your mustache."

Even at that I would rather try futiley to "interpret the voice of the city" than waste time writing anonymous letters. And pluck that one out of your blond beard.—Copyright 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate Inc.

The Human Mask.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Experimental psychologists are taking up the interesting question whether the face reveals the character. Lavater, the inventor of the so-called science of "physiognomy," would have laughed at them for their doubts on the subject, for he had no doubts. He was contemporary with Gall, the inventor of the so-called science of "phrenology"—Lavater, 1741-1801, Gall, 1758-1828. Both had a great repute in their time. Both contrived systems for the detection by outward forms of inward characteristics. Gall professed to read the mentality of men in the shapes of their skulls; Lavater to find a similar clue in the form and expression of their countenances. Out of Lavater's speculations developed a particular form of his theory that was called, in English, "nosology," meaning science of the nose, though the same word, with more correct derivation—from Greek nosos, malady—was employed in a medical sense to describe the study of maladies in general.

While both Gall's and Lavater's systems have been discarded it is interesting to remark that the latest anthropological science gives a certain fundamental basis for each, the low undeveloped forehead being recognized as characteristic of the most primitive and unintellectual forms of humanity, while the prognathous jaw and simian nose are accepted indicia of brutal, sub-human characteristics.

There is a very widespread tendency still to accept Lavater's theory, not through the formal study of it but because it seems a priori to agree with the fancied experience of men in judging their fellows. I say "fancied experience" because our judgments of this kind are almost invariably not based upon any real experimental investigation or any study by comparison but upon simple intuition or upon unscientific bias. Almost all of us have an unreasoned conviction that we can "read the character in the face," and we are apt to be pretty firmly set in our opinions or prejudices of this kind regardless of the fact that some one else may draw conclusions exactly opposite to ours.

The results of the recent investigations by Carney Landis and L. W. Phelps of Wesleyan university, are summed up thus by Science Service:

They selected the five most successful lawyers, doctors, teachers and engineers in a large university class graduated twenty five years ago and also the five who have attained the least worldly success in each of the same fields. Photographs of these forty men, taken at graduation and twenty five years later, were submitted to psychology students for judgment. In practically every case the observers disagreed. One successful engineer was thought by ten of the judges to be a clergyman. Six thought that he was successful and four that he was a failure. Another man who twenty-five years after graduation holds a minor teaching post was rated by six of the judges as a successful banker.

This is interesting but not decisive. While showing how widely judgments of the same personality by different observers may vary it gives no measure of the relative ability of the judges and does not exclude the possibility or even probability that certain persons may possess exceptional power of perception of the secret marks of character and ability. A systematic study of this subject would be of much importance, for what could have a greater influence upon the relations between men than a correct knowledge of one another's character and mentality? The utility of such knowledge would count both ways, for it is as important that we should not fail to recognize ability and honesty under an unfortunate cloak of adverse appearances as that we should detect the absence of those qualities when concealed by a mask of false pretence or complacent vanity.—Copyright 1928 International Feature Service Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON

One of the most difficult things for us to do is to forget the things we ought to forget. Many think they have poor memories and complain that they forget. But it is easier to remember than to forget. If you have suffered because of some one's thoughtless action—or even a thoughtless remark—you may forgive the offense. We can all forgive offenses, either serious or trifling. But it is so hard to forget, to smooth out the page as though nothing had ever been there. It takes such an apparently little thing to make such a lasting mark. There would be so much more happiness in life if only people could forget more easily. Forgiveness is easy. Forgetfulness is hard.

The particular weakness of a republic is not to be expressed in the character of the men elected to office. The fault goes deeper. It lies in the widespread indifference of citizens. When we learn that only fifty per cent of the voters voted at the presidential election four years ago it does not prove that there is anything wrong with our form of government, but it does prove that there is a lamentable lack of responsiveness on the part of an astonishing number of individuals who compose the republic. We will get just as good a government as our interest warrants.

* * *

There is cause for some disappointment when we observe religious intolerance especially on the part of those who by training and experience should know better. But there is no deep cause for discouragement. The world grows more tolerant, and rapidly so. In ages past men and women were tortured and burned at the stake by thousands because of their religious beliefs. Quakers and Catholics alike were punished by the early American colonists because they would not conform to the established church. There has been intolerance and indefensible punishment on both sides. Religionists have burned each other. No church has had a monopoly on severity. Today we talk a lot of intolerance, but we undoubtedly have a growing regard for the religious opinions of those who are not members of our creed. We do not put them in jail or take them out on the village commons and set a fire under them. Our injustice at least does not run into beastly cruelty. The world does move a little.

One gets a thrill out of spring—the first warm sunshine, blue sky, a sudden April rain, snappy air. New flowers are lovely and trees fresh and green. It's pleasant to shake off the shell of winter, to come out and sparkle a bit. Spring is like youth—all things rather vivid and intense and often beautiful. But October—it is like middle age. Not so snappy as youth, but mellower, more serene, even happier. Youth doesn't know. Middle age having tried both spring and fall, chooses October.

BOARD OUTLINES SCHOOL PROGRAM

... not be used immediately, the ... being to delay construction of ... building for several years until ... values can be reduced to a ... where the new high school program may be financed without placing ... upon the taxpayers.

Investigation has shown, however, ... purchase of the senior high ... site is advisable at this time, ... to the steadily increasing price ... Marion real estate.

In yesterday's article of this series, ... effort was made to provide sufficient evidence of the overcrowded conditions existing in practically all buildings of the city to show the absolute necessity of additional quarters for the pupils.

Today we have before us information from the school officials showing how the proposed new buildings and enlargements would solve the problem.

New Grade Building

One of the new buildings scheduled in the program would be a 10-room structure for grade school pupils located between Pennsylvania av. and Merchant av. and adjoining Indiana av. on a tract of land consisting of approximately five and a half acres.

This building would relieve congestion at the Forest Lawn building and take nearly all children below the seventh grade out of the Vernon Heights building. This would provide ample room at Vernon Heights building for junior high pupils in the east section of the city, thus placing the building to the use for which it is intended.

A five-room addition proposed for the Pearl Street building would eliminate the overcrowded condition there and also at the Lincoln building.

A four-room addition would be constructed to the Mark Street building for the purpose of providing adequate class rooms for the children there and also to relieve congestion at the State Street building, where there are now many overflow students from the Mark st. district.

A five-room addition planned for the North Main Street building would make it possible for that building to house all of its pupils above the fourth grade until they are ready for junior high school. This would ease the situation in that district and at the same time take pupils from the Oak Street building, where many in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades who live in the North Main st. district are now enrolled.

Glenwood Addition

The program includes a five-room addition to the Glenwood building, where 52 children are now housed in a basement room under conditions that are menacing to their health and general welfare. The additional rooms would remove these children from the basement and give them suitable quarters besides relieving congestion in all of the building's 10 rooms.

The second new building proposed in the program is a junior high school, to accommodate between 600 and 700 pupils, located in the Oakland Heights district between Bellefontaine av. and Chatfield rd. on what is commonly known as Signal hill. The proposed site consists of approximately nine and a half acres.

This building would take the seventh grade pupils out of the present Oakland Heights school and would also accommodate the sixth grade pupils when necessary. In addition, the new building would be used as a junior high school to remedy overcrowded conditions at Central Junior high. That, in turn, would enable the Central building to take junior high pupils from the center of the city who should attend there but are now forced to enroll elsewhere.

These transfers would also eliminate congestion at Silver Street and other buildings near the center of the city where junior high pupils are now attending.

In addition the new Oakland Heights building would be used as a combination junior and senior high school to lessen the crowded condition at Harding high for a few years.

General Relief Provided

Thus would it be possible to bring about a satisfactory arrangement throughout the entire city and in all of the schools, providing accommodations for increased enrollment in the future and warding off the crisis which now impends in the local educational system.

These are the plans outlined for the immediate future, plans which provide what is known to be an absolutely necessary remedy for present conditions if Marion's schools are to be kept up to the proper standard and in order that the city may escape the necessity of half-day sessions.

In probably six or seven years, it will be necessary to build a new senior high school building. When that is done, the present Harding High building would be converted for junior high use and the present Central Junior high building probably discontinued as a school structure. It is estimated that should this program be worked out, the Central Junior high site could be sold for close to a half million dollars. This money would be placed in the school fund to reduce the debt and contribute tremendously to a reduction of taxes.

HOLDS ELECTION

Officers Chosen by Baptist Church Class

Miss Pauline Noggle was hostess to members of her Sunday school class, Emmanuel Baptist church, and a number of guests at a Hallowe'en party last night at her home, 960 N. Main st.

Costume awards were given Misses Opal Rice, Susie Andrews and Wilma Depriest. The time was spent with music and games. An out-of-town guest was Miss Martha Holliday, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Earl L. Holliday, of Lorain.

During a short business meeting, the class members chose the following officers: Miss Dorothy Cosgrove, president; Miss Pauline Noggle, vice president; Miss Aucella Nutter, secretary, and Miss Violet Clutter, treasurer.

It is expected that the vote this year will be increased by more than 5,000,000, or almost the total of the Democratic vote in 1924.

Somebody apparently is interested.

FATHERS and mothers of young girls should be interested in the fact that, among all crimes, the greatest increase has been in crimes against women.

THERE can be no doubt that increase in such vicious and dangerous crime is stimulated by the modern women's fashions, skirts short and tight, etc.

They may not be immodest, but they are in some cases DANGEROUS.

F. E. COON FUNERAL SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Last Rites To Be Held at Home North of City; Burial Here

Funeral services for Frank E. Coon, 64, whose death occurred yesterday, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his late home, about four miles north of here on the Upper Sandusky pk. The Rev. Howard L. Oldender, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will officiate and burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Mr. Coon committed suicide by hanging himself in an unused shed on his farm late yesterday morning. Death, pronounced due to "strangulation; suicide by hanging" by County Coroner B. D. Osborn, is believed to have come at 11 a. m. Death was probably instantaneous, according to the coroner's investigation.

Mr. Coon, a resident of Marion county since 1871, was one of the county's largest land owners. The farm on which his death occurred extended over some 970 acres.

Born in Wyandot county, March 4, 1864, Mr. Coon was the son of Elkana and Ellen McIlrath Coon, who preceded him in death. His mother was a native of Pennsylvania and his father a native of Wyandot county. He had never married. He was a member of Marion lodge, No. 162, Knights of Pythias.

DEMOCRATS PLAN ANOTHER MEETING

Fletcher and Judge Darr Booked To Speak Here Thursday Night

Last minute plans announced today by Democratic headquarters here include arrangements for one more rally of major importance.

The rally is to be held Thursday night in the auditorium of Central Junior high school. The speakers will be Brooks Fletcher, candidate for congress, and Judge Charles J. Darr, of Washington D. C.

While it was previously planned to make the rally held two weeks ago in The Star auditorium the last one of major importance here, the demand of Democratic voters for another has been met by the arrangements for the meeting Thursday, according to party headquarters.

The rally Thursday night will be substituted for the meeting at which Fletcher had planned to present his lecture, "Behind the Scenes in Washington."

Tonight the Democratic organization has planned rallies for LaRue and Prospect. The LaRue meeting will be held in the K. of P. hall. The speakers will be George S. Myers, candidate for lieutenant governor, Homer E. Johnson, Marion attorney, and J. W. Jacoby, chairman of the county committee.

Dennis F. Dunlavy, candidate for judge of the supreme court, and Fred E. Guthery, Marion attorney, will address Democrats at Prospect.

SILVER FOX RANCH HEAD IS RELEASED

Indicted on Charges of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses

Columbus, Oct. 30—Under a grand jury indictment at Cleveland charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses, Arthur L. Turnipseed, president of the Scioto Valley Silver Fox Ranch Inc., near Chillicothe, was at liberty today following his release from city prison here last night in custody of his lawyer.

Turnipseed and James A. Ross, 43, Cincinnati, the latter a salesman for Turnipseed's company, were freed by permission of the Cuyahoga county prosecuting attorney last night, following the arrest of Turnipseed when he appeared to give bond for Ross who also faced an obtaining money under false pretenses charge. Attorneys for both promised to deliver them to Cleveland.

The indictments returned against the men at Cleveland were the outgrowth of an investigation launched by the better business bureau of Columbus and Cleveland upon complaint of Joseph A. Zachery, Cleveland, who filed affidavits against Turnipseed and Ross.

Ross prevailed upon Zachary to purchase a pair of foxes for $2,000 on the representation that young silver fox pelts sold for a minimum of $300 each and a pair of foxes would have from six to twelve pups a year, according to Zachery's affidavit.

Zachery also alleged that Ross displayed a check for $50,000 in making the sale declaring the check represented payment for 25 foxes but that it was learned on investigation the check was never cashed and that pelts sell for as low as $7 and rarely more than $200 instead of the minimum $300 as the salesman stated.

COLDEST NIGHT

Mercury Reaches 25, Low Mark for Season

A record low of 25 degrees was attained last night. Low for the season previous to that time, was 32 degrees. Today, however, a slight rise was perceptible with 42-degree temperature at noon. Fair weather is predicted for tonight, with Wednesday warmer with increasing cloudiness.

A high of 46-degrees was recorded yesterday. A year ago the temperatures remained near the 80 mark although the drop at night was to 41 degrees.

SCOUR COUNTRY FOR NEGRO TRAIN BANDIT

Chicago, Oct. 30—Armed posses today scoured the woodlands between here and Gary for the lone negro bandit who last night held up a dozen passengers on the Michigan Central's western express, bound from New York to Chicago, and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash and jewels.

CHURCH TO BUILD

Episcopal Congregation Gets Permit for New Rectory

Two building permits were issued yesterday by the city clerk for a total of $6,100. One permit is for the construction of a new church parsonage and the other is for the remodeling of a garage.

St. Paul's Episcopal church will build a new rectory for its pastor at 241-243 LaFayette st. Construction will be frame and cost is estimated at $6,000.

L. R. Amrule, 611 Mary st., will remodel his garage at the rear of his home at a cost of $100.

F. V. CHENEY DIES OF HEART DISEASE

Charter Member of Forest Lawn Church Passes Away

Frank Victor Cheney, 68, a charter member of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, died of heart disease at 9:30 o'clock this morning at his home, 931 East Center st. He had been ill five years. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Mr. Cheney made his home in Marion more than 35 years. He was born near Essex, June 23, 1860, the son of John M. and Elnora L. Schwartz Cheney, who preceded him in death. His parents were also born near Essex. Mr. Cheney and Miss Nora D. Munday were united in marriage at Canonville Center, O., Oct. 9, 1884.

Surviving him are his widow, a daughter, Miss Meryl Cheney, at home, a son, Rodolphus Cheney, at home, two brothers, O. S. Cheney, of Charlotte, Mich., and F. M. Cheney of Hartford City, Ind., and two half-brothers, W. C. Ward, of Findlay, and H. D. Ward, Davids st.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS KERNS AT MEETING

Speaker Decries Toll Taken by Industrial Accidents Throughout Nation

Decrying the accident toll taken yearly in America's industrial life, pointing out the work done by the Industrial Commission of Ohio and urging cooperation of factory and commercial men, Thomas P. Kerns, superintendent of the division of safety and hygiene, Columbus, yesterday addressed Marion Rotarians at their noon meeting at Hotel Harding.

The industrial commission, Kerns said, has as its chief mission the conservation of human life.

He pointed out that yearly in Ohio 975 persons are killed while there are 219,937 accident claims filed annually with the state. The average of permanent disabilities is 17, he said, while 1710 are partially disabled, that is, losing an arm, a leg, etc.

Kerns told Rotarians that $11,000,000 is paid annual to the state commission by factories in Ohio. All of this is paid out in accident claims, together with three or four million dollars additional paid from factories' own insurance funds.

The indirect cost of accidents in Ohio, he said, was three or four times the claims, or around $90,000,000.

Kerns praised the workmen's compensation law and recited its benefits.

UNIDENTIFIED MEN KILLED IN CHICAGO GUN BATTLE

Chicago, Oct. 30—An unidentified man was shot and killed early today as he ran in a vain effort to escape his assailant.

One eye witness to the killing was located by police. He gave the name of Joseph Granger. He said he was waiting for the street car when the two men ran past him.

"After killing his victim the man turned the gun on me," said Granger. "But it failed to explode. He cursed and ran away."

MUST SERVE PENITENTIARY SENTENCE, COURT RULES

Toledo, Oct. 30—Louis Muzzion, alias Cowboy Hill, must serve one to 15 years for his part in the robbery of the Peoples State Bank at Delta, Fulton county, May 1920, the court of appeals ruled here today in upholding the decision of the Fulton county courts.

Cowboy Hill was arrested here several years ago in a raid during which his comrade, Archie Dennison, was fatally shot.

HOWARD E. WURLITZER DIES IN NEW YORK

Cincinnati, Oct. 30—Friends today were awaiting the arrival from New York, of the body of Howard E. Wurlitzer, 57, chairman of the board of directors of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., following his sudden death in New York City last night. Wurlitzer had gone to New York to be present at a birthday party given in honor of his mother, Mrs. Rudolph Wurlitzer, Sr.

REPORT 350,000 CHILDREN STARVING; CROPS BURNED

Moscow, Oct. 30—Aid is being rushed to 350,000 starving children in the famine districts of southern Ukraine and parts of Crimea where drouth burned up every bit of the crops. The Russian Red Cross subscribed an initial $100,000 for the relief work and is establishing soup kitchens throughout the region.

NEWS MAN DIES

Columbus, Oct. 30—Clarence Metters, 60, a veteran of more than a quarter century of newspaper work in the state capital, is dead here today following a nine month's illness. His death was attributed to heart disease. At the time of his death Metters was connected with the Columbus Citizen.

Police Are Mystified As "Dead" Man Returns Home

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 30—George McCoy, 23, intended to take a walk out to the cemetery today to see his grave. George also is thinking about going down to the tombstone makers to cancel an order for a grave marker.

And while he did that, authorities at Akron are wondering whose body was identified as that of George McCoy, by his mother Mrs. Ida Braggs, two weeks ago.

Mrs. Braggs is recovering from shock she suffered yesterday when she fainted as her son, thought dead, walked into her home.

On Oct. 2, Akron police found a young man lying unconscious on the sidewalk. He died in a hospital without recovering. Mrs. Braggs and two of McCoy's sisters identified the body, but an insurance company withheld payment on a policy, pending receipt of a death certificate.

WEEK'S INDOOR FAIR OPENED BY EAGLES

Annual Charity Event Being Staged in Lodge Quarters

The third annual indoor fair of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, opened last night in the lodge rooms on the third floor of the Eagles' building.

The fair has the usual merchandise booths and in addition there is "park plan" dancing.

The purpose of the bazaar is to raise funds to aid the poor and needy of Marion. Every cent taken in goes for that purpose. Last year the Eagles lodge spent $1,500 here in helping the poor, John A. Abel, secretary of the lodge, stated.

In aiding the poor the Eagles attempt to find those who are the most needy. Every indication is that this winter conditions among the poor will be even worse than usual and that more money will be needed than last year, according to Abel.

The fair will continue each night throughout the week.

PLAN ELECTION OF CHURCH DELEGATE

Epworth Board Arranges for Vote on Representative to Convention

Plans for election of a delegate to the lay electoral convention next fall were made at the first quarterly conference of Epworth M. E. church, following the monthly meeting of members of the official board last night at the church. Dr. H. E. Armicost, of Delaware, Delaware district superintendent, presided.

It was decided to hold the church business meeting for election of a lay delegate about three weeks before the electoral convention, next fall. The convention is being held in connection with the annual meeting of the West Ohio conference of the M. E. church, place of meeting not having been decided.

John H. Clark was chosen to act as judge for the election with Willard Linton and James P. Harlman as tellers. All members of the church over 21 years of age will vote.

At the convention the delegate will vote on two changes in the constitution of the general church, the institution of a central conference, and discontinuance of lay delegates at the conference.

Dr. B. L. George, pastor, and George W. Bacon, Sunday school superintendent, gave their quarterly reports.

Social Events

Advance Club Holds Meeting

A vote in favor of the school bond issue which will be an important question in next week's election, and a motion in favor of following the club custom of sending Christmas bags annually to the soldiers were outstanding features of the business meeting of the Advance club, held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. J. B. Bray, Forest st. Current events were given in response to roll call, which was followed by a program on Walt Whitman, one of America's poets who is gaining more recognition each year. Mrs. W. J. Wetzel gave a paper, "The American Bard, Walt Whitman," and Mrs. C. M. Long read one of his most noted collections, "Leaves of Grass." At the meeting Wednesday, Nov. 7, with Mrs. W. S. Harvey, East Church st., Mrs. Paul Alexander, of Monroe, will present the second of her series of lectures before the club, and will give a book review of "Imperialism, or World Politics," written by Parker Moon.

GOING TO NEW YORK

John H. Clark, 301 Franklin st., will leave Wednesday night for New York City to attend a bi-monthly meeting of members of the executive committee of the book concern of the M. E. church. He will return Friday.

LOCAL REPUBLICANS ATTEND 2 RALLIES

Report Successful Meetings at LaRue and Findlay

Republican rallies at LaRue and Findlay last night were highly successful, according to reports brought back to Marion by those who attended.

Following an early appearance at the LaRue meeting the glee club of the Marion county chapter of the Ohio council of Republican women, together with a number of other Marion county Republicans, went to Findlay to attend a district rally there. The chief speaker at the meeting was Governor Brewster, of Maine. Fred W. Warner, Marion attorney and state committeeman from his district, presided at the meeting. More than 50 Marion county Republicans made the trip to Findlay.

At the LaRue meeting the chief speaker was John T. Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor. Dr. H. A. Hoques, of LaRue, presided.

Republican candidates for county offices attended the meeting. Horace Cookston, candidate for state representative, is reported to have escaped serious injury when his automobile slid into a ditch while he was enroute to the LaRue meeting.

All Republican committeemen and precinct judges and clerks of the city and county will attend a meeting in the common pleas court room in the courthouse tonight. Instructions for the election next Tuesday will be given and a final check will be made on registration.

CHARGE TWO MEN RESISTED OFFICER

Pair Held for Trial Here; Claim One Threatened To Use Gun

Jess Woyan, 120 Lee st., and Joseph Lorris, of Ashland, were arrested by local police at 7:45 o'clock last night. Woyan had threatened a policeman with a 22-caliber revolver which later was found to be fully loaded, according to police reports.

Charges of carrying concealed weapons and resisting an officer were booked against Woyan and charges of intoxication and resisting an officer, against Lorris, this morning. When the case came up for trial in the municipal court today, both men pleaded not guilty on all charges. The case was continued to Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

200 AT PARTY

Hallowe'en Social Given by Members of I. O. O. F. Lodge

Approximately 200 attended the Hallowe'en dance and card party which the members of Kosciusko Lodge No. 58, I. O. O. F., gave last night at their hall for their friends and members of Rebekah lodge, following the regular meeting of Kosciusko lodge. Twelve tables were filled for cards. Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Adams furnished music for the dancing.

Charles Chapman, Roy Caylor and Jesse Woods made up the committee in charge of the affair.

PARTY CELEBRATES THREE ANNIVERSARIES

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McWherter, of Morral, entertained with a 6 o'clock Hallowe'en dinner last night at the Morral hotel, honoring the three birthday anniversaries of Mrs. McWherter, Miss Glendora Buck and Miss Virgie Humphrey. Guests at the dinner included Misses Glendora and Ardena Buck, Virgie and Ruby Humphrey and Zelda Deal and Clarence Garrer, of Morral, H. A. Hannah and Frank Orzinger, of Van Buren, and Mr. and Mrs. McWherter and children, Paul, Wilbur and Wayne.

POLITICIAN BLAMED FOR LIGHT TROUBLE

Fletcher Secretary Issues Statement on Benton Ridge Incident

A new angle has developed in the Benton Ridge light situation, which came into prominence when Brooks Fletcher, Democratic candidate for congress, was forced to abandon his proposed political meeting there when the auditorium lighting apparatus failed to function.

The latest statement in the light exchange from W. C. Wrede, secretary to Fletcher. Wrede in a detailed statement issued today absolves the Hancock county Republican organization from any responsibility in the affair but places the responsibility with a "certain notorious politician from Findlay, whom, he charges, "came to Benton Ridge for the apparent purpose of embarrassing Congressman and Mrs. Fletcher."

In his statement Wrede denies that the picture machine burned out a fuse thus causing the lights to go out. When the lights first went out, he claims, the picture machine was not then connected.

After he had arranged a connection with a nearby house the lights again went out, he claims. He also states that he saw persons running away in the darkness when he went to investigate the trouble.

Free noise makers, balloons and red fire will be distributed to all marchers in Mardi Gras parade tomorrow night at 7 p. m., rear Junior High school and Oak st. Parade moves at 7:30 p. m.—Adv.

Why some children are peevish.

Happy disposition easily recovered.

Some children are liable to get bilious and irritable, just as grown-ups often do. It is easily remedied. Simply give a dose of "California Fig Syrup" and in a few hours the bowels will move the liver will be relieved and all pent-up bile and sour, constipated waste removed, leaving the system clean and sweet and the child bright and energetic again.

"California Fig Syrup" banishes biliousness and constipation, regulates the bowels and insures pure blood, a clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and able sturdy growth.

To get the genuine California Fig Syrup, endorsed by physicians for 50 years, look for the name "California" on the package. Adv.

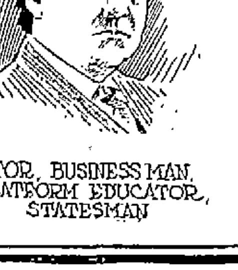
Brooks Fletcher is the only Ohio Congressman who did not miss a single roll call in the last session of Congress

FOR CONGRESS
BROOKS FLETCHER



EDITOR, BUSINESS MAN, PLATFORM EDUCATOR, STATESMAN

He is always on the job.

He voted for Farm Relief.

His labor record is one hundred per cent perfect.

All of his business life through his newspapers and from the platform he has fought for the temperance cause.

In spite of the anonymous leaflets being secretly distributed by his political enemies to the contrary Congressman Brooks Fletcher is absolutely against any modification of our dry laws.

He not only votes dry but he lives the way he votes.

Although only having had an opportunity to serve but one term and a half yet in that short time he has made a remarkable record in Congress for hard work and devotion to duty and deserves the support of every citizen who believes in temperance and morality in public and in private life.

You Don't Need Trimmings With Sugardale Pork Roll

SERVE it just as you buy it from your Sugardale dealer—sliced, ready for the table. There's no need to add anything, for the goodness—that different, tastier flavor—is all there when you buy it. Sugardale Pork Roll is all pork—pure, tender, skillfully cooked pork. The only ingredients added to it are the finest spices money can buy. It's on sale at all Sugardale dealers as this week's Sugardale special. Your own dealer will gladly let you taste it—let you prove to yourself that it is a finer flavored, all-around better Ready-to-Serve Meat. Buy some today—sliced—and serve it tonight.

For Your Thanksgiving Turkey—Sugardale Kup Sausage Stuffing

Your family will say this is the best dressing you ever made. Try it—

For a twelve pound turkey use 6 cups of stale bread crumbs, 1½ cups of Sugardale Kup Sausage ... all ... 1½ tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, juice of 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning. Mix these ingredients together in the order given, moistening with a little water or stock if necessary to hold together. Do not stuff turkey too tightly. For smaller or larger turkeys use quantities in proportion to weight.

That's the ticket, he said finally, pointing to a map. View of the water, isn't there. Right! How much?

Well — including everything — $[illegible],000, said Jim.

Including everything else. What do you call everything?

The house—completely finished. The grounds landscaped. All you'll need will be furniture—

All? Banks threw up his hands in a humorous gesture. How much to turn it over ready to run in?

I could name almost any figure—

All right—I'll name one. Seven hundred and fifty thousand for the estate and the house. Right. Can you supply furniture and pay the help that's [illegible] a month's wages for another $[illegible]

Lord yes! Might save [illegible] [illegible] I don't mind telling you there's a handsome profit on the other charge.

No reason why there shouldn't be. You put in your brains. They're worth something. All right. I'll give you my check for $250,000 on account. How's that? My lawyer will come in and fix up a contract—I've no time for details.

Jim sat still looking after his first client as he went out. Then he laughed. Victory was within his grasp—here was the definite, concrete proof that his vision was no fantastic dream. [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] he had sown?

As the day had begun it went on. Everything was working out as he had [illegible] it would, planned that it should. As definite figures took the place of his vague estimates these were borne out at every turn. [illegible] things developed the more certain it was that carried out according to his views this undertaking was bound to be enormously, actually, profitable.

There was no development of small cheap lots, but a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] there were two more tentative inquiries about estates [illegible] plain the idea was taking hold of the imaginations of precisely the sort of men [illegible] had aimed.

But, in the circumstances he could have no feeling of triumph or elation. Somewhere, at this very moment was Blake working against him under ground, sapping, digging the hole in which [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] how Debbie would regard him when he knew the truth of his daring venture.

It was about [illegible] when [illegible] was announced. He came in one [illegible] of him [illegible] he brought no good news. The reporter [illegible]

[illegible] with Lamar, he said. She got the letter all right. And—I couldn't do a thing with her.

Wishes Everybody To Know All About This New Konjola

Steubenville (O) Man Freed From Grave Disorders of Stomach and Kidneys By Modern Medicine

Be not discouraged if all else has failed, for there remains Konjola, the master remedy. Its chief fame rests upon its unbounded success in cases that have resisted treatment year after year. Take the case of Mr. A. R. McElwain, 611 Grandview Avenue, Steubenville, O., who says:

"Though hungry I could not eat for the pains that followed were torture. Then came terrific headaches lasting for days. My kidneys were sorely affected, and because of this I lost much sleep at night. My ankles were swollen and pains pierced my limbs and back. Nothing helped me, and my work in the steel mills became almost impossible. Listening to advice I started on Konjola. It was exactly what I needed and never found before. A brief treatment and I was a new man, well in every way, freed from all my aches and pains. My strength is returning day by day and my work is a joy. Konjola is wonderful beyond words. I hope this message reaches all who are going through what I did and from the suffering that this amazing medicine saved me."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new [illegible] product until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.—Adv.

MISS MARION DAHL

Know Her?

You ought to know this lovely New York City girl because her blonde beauty has been displayed on so many magazine covers. She's Marion Dahl, 35 Clarkson St., Brooklyn. Artists say she's a "type." They fairly rave over her delicate flesh tints and the golden glory of her hair!

Miss Dahl says: "Everyone I know, tells me how wonderful my hair looks, nowadays. I don't feel like it's a personal compliment however. I take it more as a compliment to the method I'm using to care for it. It's the rage among girls here in New York. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush each time you use it. My hair was wiry and hard to keep in place, but Danderine makes it soft and easy to dress and holds it like I arrange it for hours! My scalp fairly tingles with vigor after I use it and it keeps my head so clean I don't need to shampoo half as often. It brings out the color of my hair marvelously, making it fairly glisten!"

Every application of Danderine tones and refreshes your scalp. It removes the oily film from each strand and makes dull, stringy hair gleamy, soft and easily manageable. It dissolves dandruff and keeps it out of your hair. It isn't sticky or oily. It does not show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles.—Adv.

Any Woman Can Look Stylish

By MAE MARTIN

Most stylish looking women you see are simply good managers! They don't open their pocketbook wide for every change in fashion. They know simple ways to make last season's things conform to this year's styles.

Thousands of them have found how easily they can transform a dress, or blouse, or coat [illegible] the quick magic of home tinting or dyeing. With true, fadeless Diamond Dyes anyone can do this successfully. The "know how" is in the dyes. Each package represents the perfection of 50 years of dye making. They don't streak or spot like inferior dyes. New, fashionable tints appear like magic, right over the out of style or faded colors. Tinting with Diamond Dyes is as easy as bluing, and dyeing takes just a little longer. Only Diamond Dyes produce perfect results. Insist on them and save disappointment.

My new 64-page book "Color Craft" gives hundreds of ways you can make your home and clothes stylish and attractive and do it with little money. It's FREE. Send for your copy NOW. Write Mae Martin, Home Service Dept., Diamond Dyes, Burlington, Vermont.—Adv.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

COLDER and colder. The girls are wearing their furs. I am glad that Jubilee wears hair instead of fur. He acted like he likes coldish weather when I let him down this morning, and he [illegible] tearing around the yard [illegible] a tomcat was after him. [illegible] that would fall off of him would have to wait till his next time around to hop on, for it couldn't ever catch up with him. I would hate to be a [illegible] and have to depend on a dog for a living. I said that to Mush's wife yesterday, and she said she would be [illegible] if she didn't have the schoolhouse to [illegible] [illegible] glad Mush didn't hear her.

[illegible] and Trouble and Maggie came to our house whilst I was [illegible] my face this morning, after I had milked the dummed brutes, and they were all wearing their furs, and I said I was glad I didn't have fur on me [illegible] wouldn't be skinned to get a fur for some woman and my father [illegible] for a fur just the same. Then everyone laughed, so it must has been funny. I was saying at breakfast that this is a very sad time of year [illegible] to go swimming and not cold enough to go skating or sleigh riding, and [illegible] said [illegible] A poet has expressed the same thought,

The melancholy days are here,
The [illegible] of the year
A little too warm for cocktails,
A little too cold for beer.

[illegible] my grandfather asked my [illegible] if he was trying to break his heart and I had three pancakes in my pocket for Jubilee, so I grabbed my hat and me and Trouble and Feeble and Maggie skun out for the vacant lot where the kids were waiting for us and the cows.

There was a ladder up against the peak of Old Man Beanbin's house and it was the longest ladder almost I ever saw. Before any of the rest of us got a chance at it the Lost Bag of Tripe ran up it almost to the top and put one foot on a rung and took hold of a rung with one hand and stood with one hand and one foot way out in the air. Then Feeble got to the ladder and shook it and all at once the rung with the Lost Bag of Tripe's foot on busted and he came down straddle of the next rung and his hand jerked loose and he slid almost all the way down the ladder head first on his back, and then one of his arms went between the rungs and he slowed up and turned over and slid the rest of the ways feet first and landed on his bussel and sat there looking like a silly billy. He wasn't hurt, but he was mad. We skun out so to not be there when the man that owned the ladder came. The Lost Bag of Tripe told Feeble he would get even, and she asked if [illegible] smart.

MODERN WOMEN APPLY BRAINS TO THEIR JOBS

Laugh at Old-fashioned Ideas—Keep Their Looks, Save Their Hands

Not long ago housewives were afraid to use lye in cleaning pots and pans. They used it only for opening up clogged drain pipes, removing rust stains from washbowls, or for purifying garbage pails.

They knew lye cut grease like a knife cuts cheese. They knew it instantly rinsed away, leaving broilers, pots and pans sparkling, sweet smelling. But lye dried the skin of their hands. So in their cleaning water they depended on much soap, hot water, steel wool and muscle. Tired backs and red hands followed.

Then along came the efficient young women of today, determined not to let housekeeping destroy their looks or kill their joy in life.

They looked at those eternally greasy pots and pans. They saw what cleaning did to hands and backs. They determined to keep their hands out of water.

Buying big comfortable rubber gloves or long handled mops they began using lye. In ten seconds now they swash clean a big broiler that took their mothers ten minutes of hard scouring.

Red Seal Lye is their favorite because it is 97% pure lye—the purest, quickest acting made.

Don't let routine drag you down. Try this clever new way. Just write down "Red Seal Lye" on your grocery list, now—and tomorrow will end this drudgery forever.

VonLuckner Opens Local Lecture Course With Story Of His Dramatic Career

Audience of More Than 1,000 at High School Entertainment Hear Noted German Tell of His Adventures in Many Countries

Count Felix von Luckner, who opened the Harding High School lecture and entertainment course with his lecture upon [illegible] in the [illegible] auditorium last night, is no stranger to this country, he told his audience. Inspired by tales of Buffalo Bill he ran away from home at the age of 17 to reach America and see the hero of his dreams and become a self made man like Buffalo Bill.

His adventures and misadventures in attempting to find his hero furnished the subject matter for a large part of von Luckner's talk last night. He went before the mast on a sailing vessel under an assumed name only to find that it was bound for Australia. The ship was Russian and he was not happy there so he left the ship when it reached Australia and got a job as a kitchen boy in a hotel.

Varied Occupations

Later he joined the Salvation army, but deserted to become a helper to a lighthouse keeper, but as the keeper's daughter loved him while he only liked her, he had to leave. Then he joined a band of magicians as a bill poster.

One day he was in a coast town and saw an American clipper ship which he termed "the ship of a self made man." He went as a common seaman on the ship, which was bound for San Francisco. Landing in San Francisco he set out to walk the railroad ties to Denver, Buffalo Bill's home, but when he arrived there, he was told that his hero was in Germany with a circus.

Walks Across Country

"Only a tramp knows the greatness of your country," von Luckner told his audience. He was five and a half months in walking the railroad ties to New York City. In New York he washed dishes in a free lunch room and later shined brass at the Hotel Majestic.

Finally he became a prize fighter and won the middleweight championship of Queensland Australia. After 11 years he returned to Germany with $1,000. Returning to school he studied for and passed the examination as a navigator and became a lieutenant in the imperial navy.

During the World war he won recognition for his [illegible] daring [illegible] when Germany was [illegible] the story of [illegible] [illegible] as a result of the [illegible] of the North sea he was selected to run the blockade.

His Own Ship

Von Luckner obtained an American clipper ship and into it put a ship plot, crew, books, shipping papers and crew list of a Norwegian [illegible] vessel. Then he set out to run the Allied blockade. Passing through the seas patrolled by British ships during a hurricane, his ship reached the Atlantic ocean before it was stopped and searched by a British cruiser. The British found nothing unusual in their search and allowed the disguised German vessel to go on its way.

During the period before his vessel was wrecked, Von Luckner succeeded in destroying ships carrying 80,000 tons of shipping. He did this without killing a single person for before he sunk the captured ships he removed passengers and crew to his own ship.

Von Luckner treated his prisoners as guests and landed them upon neutral soil at the first opportunity.

In his talk last night Von Luckner used many gestures and frequently resorted to pantomime to make his meaning clear. He spoke with a distinct accent and interspersed his talk with many humorous remarks.

An audience of more than 1,000 heard the lecture, filling the auditorium to capacity.

The next number of the high school course will be on Dec 18 when a dramatic company will present "Lightnin'."

Four regular bands in Mardi Gras parade tomorrow night. Come up town and hear the music, see the parade, the new lights and enjoy the fun.—Adv.

Song Hits Featured in

SCHEDULED ON RADIO

Program for Wednesday

Song hits from "Chee Chee" and "Upsa Daisy" will be featured during the Palmolive hour to be broadcast over the National Broadcasting system at 9.30 o'clock Wednesday night. These will be "Moon of My Delight" and the theme song of "Upsa-daisy." In addition the Palmolive Revelers will be heard in "Evenin'" and "The Spell of the Blues."

Olive Palmer's soprano solos will be "Palaces" and "Fairy Story by the Fire." With Paul Oliver she will sing the "Chee Chee" number and the tenor alone will offer Friedens "Kashmiri Love Song."

Wilenberg's "Coronation March" will be played as the opening number of the hour of Slumber Music at 11 o'clock Wednesday night over the NBC system.

The Slumber Music string sextet, with harmonium and piano, also will play selections from Leo Delibe's ballet pantomime, "La Source," Ketelbey's sketch, "In a Monastery Garden," Liszt's "Consolation" and Cesar Franck's "Prayer."

A new comedy song which has not yet been published will be sung by the South brothers, Trade and Mark, in their program to be broadcast over the NBC system at 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

The new number, "There'll Be No Show Tonight," will be presented as a vocal duet by Scrappy Lambert and Billy Hillpot. Other duets include "My Blackbirds are Bluebirds Now," "Roses of Yesterday" and "It Goes Like This."

AMERICAN'S SON HONORED

To honor the memory of Dr. Guillermo Rawson, great Argentine patriot and son of an American doctor, a large marble and bronze monument was recently unveiled in Buenos Aires. The ceremony was conducted by President de Alvear, of the Argentine Republic, in the presence of a large number of leading officials and a throng of people. Tributes were paid to the many accomplishments of Doctor Rawson in freeing the country from tyrannical rule and in introducing many progressive reforms while senator and as a member of the Argentine cabinet. Doctor Rawson was the son of Dr. Amon Rawson, who went from the United States to Argentina in 1818.

M. A. Poscumire.

The time was spent socially and with games, after which refreshments were served.

MISSIONARY ADDRESSES LA RUE CHURCH GROUP

LaRue, Oct. 30—The lecture given by the Rev. John Norton, missionary from India, at the Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon was enjoyed by a large audience. Wilbur Miller, president of the society, had charge of the program, which opened by singing the hymn, "He Leadeth Me." The Rev. R. L. Reynolds, pastor of Presbyterian church, read the scripture lesson and led in prayer. A duet by Mrs. Henry Welting and Mrs. John Zeig, "How Do Our the Tide," followed.

Mr. Norton then entertained by telling the people of India and his work there, giving an insight of both the bright and dark sides of their life. The costumes, ornaments, and different articles which he had.

A free will offering was taken for Mr. Norton. A solo by Mrs. E. D. Maurice, "Abide With Me," was enjoyed, followed by the benediction by the pastor, the Rev. Raymond Merritt. During the social hour following tea was served by ladies of the society.

ON THE Streets of Marion
WITH STAR STAFF

OLD LANDMARKS

ANOTHER of Marion's landmarks of days that are past, is fast disappearing from its site at 182 North Main st. This was the second building used by the Huber Manufacturing Co.

The structure was first occupied by Lucas & Holmes, who operated a machine shop. After Lucas died, Holmes was unable to do business successfully and sold an interest in his shop to one Seffner, of Galion, who owned a machine shop in the city.

The Huber Manufacturing Co. bought the business of Holmes & Seffner about the year 1875 just before it was incorporated. The local manufacturing company continued to operate the machine shop until about 1893 when its new plant on Greenwood st. was opened.

Since 1895, various firms have used the North Main st. building. Its last tenant used it as a storage room for farm implements.

The structure is now the property of Laura N. Lawrence, 719 East Center st., to whom a building permit for the construction of a $8,000 business building on that site was issued by the city clerk Saturday. Work of tearing down the old structure is now being done.

U. G. Lawrence took out the building permit and told S. H. Keller, city clerk, that he intended to use many of the joists from the old building in the construction of the new.

"We can't buy joists like these to-day," Lawrence said. "They're just as straight as a die after all these years."

DOUBLING UP

"CLICK!" sounded the waitress' punch after the guest at a local lunch counter had received his order.

"Click," it sounded again as he ordered another portion to satisfy a somewhat substantial appetite.

"Click," again a third time after he had again ordered.

Another waitress walked back to his place at the counter and picked up his check.

"Click!" a fourth time.

"Say! From the sound of the shears around here you'd think I was getting a haircut," the guest expostulated. "My check was already punched for that last order. What are you trying to do, work up trade?"

The matter was adjusted satisfactorily.

TIME SAVER

THE service being given Marion citizens by the Marion Rapid Transit Co., Inc. is meeting with widespread approval, judging from favorable comments heard on every side about the streets of Marion since inauguration of bus service here Oct. 7.

The buses are saving a great deal of time for citizens who find it necessary to use them and therefrom results the approval.

One man said that he saves between eight and 10 minutes going to and from work in the city building and his home on the south side. A mail carrier saves five minutes each way on his journey to and from his route, according to a previous report on the bus service carried in this column. Others save time varying from one to 15 minutes according to the length of the run.

LUCKY ACCIDENT

SOME people have all the luck, it seems, both in accidents and business. Friday night one of The Star boys who sells papers on the corner of Main and Center sts., walked into a moving automobile and was knocked to the ground, suffering no injuries, and spilling but a few of his evening's papers. The fault was entirely the boy's, for the driver of the car was going with the traffic lights and at a slow rate of speed.

The lucky part of the whole story is that the driver, feeling sorry for the boy, a little fellow, gave him a $1 bill.

LIVE WIRE

"IF he doesn't make a success when he grows up, no one in town will," is the opinion of most of the people who know the ambitions and selling Tom Jevas, of Oak st., one of Marion's most popular dispensers of weekly and monthly reading material.

Tommy is up bright and early every Thursday morning making his rounds with his magazines, early enough that most boys of his age are getting their well earned rest at the time. Tom always has a smile for his customers and a word concerning his progress in the selling field.

Recently this peppy package of ambition received a book on the life of Benjamin Franklin for having completed a magazine selling campaign.

Each week when he's on his rounds he has a word for his customers about his progress and the reward in store. Tommy is a Boy Scout, and a good one, too, besides being on a par with the other boys with whom he goes to school.

It's a pleasure to start the day out when Tommy visits with his sparkling brown eyes and snappy talk about his "business."

EVENLY DIVIDED

"A HOUSE divided against itself can not stand," in the words of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, and although there is no doubt in the mind of the reporter that these well-chosen words are true, yet there's positive proof on one Marion street near the uptown district, that a double house, divided politically, can stand. Perhaps there's strife between the families that wasn't evident from the outside, but pasted in the windows are the pictures of the genial candidates, Hoover and Cooper in one window with the equally benevolent Smith and Davey in the other.

There'll be cheers and hurrahs in one of those houses Nov. 6, and "I told you so" glances over the back fence.

SCHOOLS MEET

Program Is Presented at Township Gathering at Salem

Espyville, Oct. 30—Rev. Grace Nelson presided for the convention of Big Island Township Sunday Schools held Sunday at the Salem Church of God. Musical numbers were contributed by members of the Salem group and Meeker orchestra. Reverend Brown contributed a talk and Miss Rita Van Meter sang a solo. Mrs. Shoots contributed a talk and Miss Virginia Wiley sang a solo. Members of the Busy Bee class, of Espyville, sang a song and Miss Isoah Alta played a piccolo number. Misses Mildred and Marie Willson sang a duet, which concluded the program.

The next convention will be held in October at the Meeker M. E. church.

NORMAN BERGEGRUN IS BIRTHDAY CELEBRANT

Green Camp, Oct. 30—Mrs. Naomi Bergegrun was hostess to the second grade pupils of which her son, Norman, is a member, at her home Friday evening. Hallowe'en games and stunts were enjoyed by the little folks, honors going to Ruth Beaver and George Bricker. Mrs. Bergegrun served refreshments. Class members present were Virginia Ruth, Nina Ruth Porter, Jean and Ruth Beaver, Betty Bricker, Dorothy Jean Haberman, Ruth George and Ruth Osborle, Lowell Ault and Norman Bergegrun. Guests were, Mrs. Hattie Berry and Marie Schwaderer, of Waldo, and Mrs. Mary Riley and Robert Bergegrun.

GREEN CAMP BAPTIST CHURCH GROUP MEETS

Green Camp, Oct. 30—The Baptist Missionary ladies meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Dreyer for their October session Thursday with the president, Mrs. Claire Porter, in charge. Following devotionals by Mrs. Lila Boswell and prayer, by Mrs. V. P. Powell, the study of "Africa" was taken up for an hour. One new member, Mrs. Alma Lamus, enrolled. Mrs. Dreyer served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Fern Clay. The committee for November will be Mrs. William Court and Mrs. F. O. Johnson.

"MAYBE I'LL HAVE TO FIGHT"

HEISMAN'S HUNDRED
In the Hall of Football Fame

GEORGE PFANN
Played quarterback at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., 1921-22-23.
Born: 1902.
Home Town: Marion, O.
Fraternity: Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
All-American: 1923.
Ancestry: German-American.
Height: 5 8
Weight: 170.
Speed: Very fast.
Captain: 1923.
Coach: Dobb.
Resides: Oxford, England.
Occupation: Student at Oxford University.

BY JOHN W. HEISMAN

CORNELL has just won her twenty-second straight victory on the gridiron, no rival having humbled her in three straight years, in fact no opponent has been able to hold her to a tie. They are up in Dartmouth today and 22 players are straining at the leash awaiting the whistle of the referee which shall announce the opening of hostilities.

It comes—so does the ball. Cornell receives it and runs it to the 25 yard line, makes a fumble on the first play attempted but recovers it. At once, in the dangerous territory, Pfann passes to Ramsey successfully for a 15 yard gain. On the very next play Pfann takes the ball and goes more than half the length of the field for a touchdown.

Pfann is a phantom to Dartmouth all day long. He bursts into breakaway runs on the slightest provocation—or none at all. He hurls passes and takes them; he punts and gives signals, he tackles and then, for a change, makes a lot more long runs. Cornell scores four touchdowns and kicks two field goals.

* * *

AGAINST Penn three weeks later 'Pfann, on the first play following the kick off, goes 18 yards around right end. Now he does something Kaw could not do — he plunges through the Penn line three times in succession for another first down. On the fifth successive play he again takes the ball and goes around left end for 15 yards. All places in the Penn line look alike to him. A newspaper report of the game said: "It took three and four men to drag him down once he got started on his pile-driving plunges, with knees flying high and feet flying in all directions." In a few minutes Cornell had the ball on Penn's 34 yard line. Pfann moves from the Cornell mess, takes a pass for 20 yards, runs 11 more and has a touchdown. He takes numerous other passes in the game and in the fourth quarter he is awarded the ball on interference on Penn's six yard line and takes a slanting shot outside of tackle for a touchdown and victory, 14-7—making it 21 straight games that Pfann has played in for Cornell without once tasting defeat.

* * *

KAW was a hard man to stop in '21 and '22 but Pfann was worse. The writer was coaching Penn in 1923 and Kaw was captain of Cornell. He was good but we stopped him. Then they resorted to Pfann and we did NOT stop HIM—and that was all there was to it. He started faster than Kaw, ran faster, dodged better, stiff-armed more wickedly, tore more fiercely, and, in general, just had that extra ounces that spells the difference between excellent and phenomenal. Pfann himself was a very good passer and a fine punter. On receiving passes he was a wizard and a demon combined—he had a way of enveloping himself in something that made him invisible to the defensive secondary men as he sneaked on out for a pass—that was wizardry.

GEORGE PFANN

He played in 24 games at quarter for Cornell and each was a victory. Nobody seemed to be able to stop him and the victories of his team were due in large measure to Pfann.

His cleverness in catching them was magic. The way he ran with it after that was phenomenal. It's a question whether he or the illustrious "Chuck" Barrett was the more brilliant with the ball under his arm. It is to be set down as another valuable asset of Pfann's that he was very game and courageous. He never ran out of bounds to avoid a hard tackle—never cut into a group of tacklers as into a mattress thereby shunning the one hird who would give him a nasty side-swipe! George always took the yardage that belonged to the run no matter what the cost to himself.

PENN RESTS

Philadelphia, Oct. 30—Refreshed by two days of rest, the Penn football squad reported for practice today determined to atone for its defeat by Navy by beating Chicago in the Windy City on Saturday.

QUARTERBACK OUT

Washington, Pa., Oct. 30—Washington and Jefferson probably will be without the services of Mort Robinson, injured quarterback, in the annual battle with Lafayette next Saturday.

MONEY MAY CAUSE JACK DEMPSEY TO ATTEMPT COMEBACK

Much Will Depend on Success of Ventures Outside Ring

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Copyright 1928 by International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—"Maybe I'll have to fight again!"

The truth at last broke through the studied evasion of months today and Jack Dempsey, his guard down, was telling for the first time the real story of a losing battle against the most insidious of all temptations—the utterly human urge to "try, try again."

"Maybe I'll have to fight again!"

There was the story of a man's life in those six words, uttered simply, almost wistfully. Men speak like that in the presence of truth. No posturing, no thought for effect. Not the bland patter of a carefully rehearsed express. The writer simply happened to be present while Jack Dempsey was talking to himself. He was conceding the melancholy fact that the words he had mouthed these many months might prove to be only so much sparkling banter, after all.

Money Is Answer

Maybe he will have to fight again and the answer rests with the age-old prompter of all humankind: money.

He could have spoken of honor, of the "public's demand," of any of the senseless reasons men assume for doing something they want to do. Instead, he spoke of money and one knew that sincerity was speaking. The matter came up very naturally.

The writer had started the inevitable inquiry and Dempsey had countered with the inevitable rejoinder, something that sounded like "the game's too rough for an old guy like me." I didn't believe he meant anything of the kind and said so, with elaborations concerning the type of men he would be asked to beat. And so, with the unconscious effort all of us make at self-justification, he spoke unguardedly, perhaps too quickly.

Not Worried

"Oh, I'm not worried about those guys. What I'm thinking about is that it costs me a lot of money to live. Maybe I'll have to fight again."

Maybe his guard will be up again tomorrow and he will be singing the old refrain of the man who says he has fought his last fight. Let him say it. The writer knows now that Dempsey himself is far from sure he believes his own words. He may not want to fight again. He may have to.

And, if he does have to, he at least will have the moral courage of a man who still thinks he can. It is Dempsey's personal opinion that he could make a better fight the next time out than the night he had Tunney plucking wildflowers in the seventh round at Chicago. He said so, by inference, in answering a hypothetical question as to what manner of puncher might be the man who hit another seven times on the chin, knocked him down and couldn't keep him there.

Trained Too Hard

"That's easy," said he. "I was no fighter that night. I had left all my fight in the training camp. I made the mistake of training for it as I did for the Willard fight at Toledo: forgetting all the time that I was eight years older. If I ever had the same chance, I wouldn't do that again. In fact, if I ever came back, I would handle myself in training. I know better than anybody else just what I need to be right."

Meanwhile, he is marking time while seeking the answer to this very pertinent question:

"Have I made all the money I'm due to make, outside the ring?"

Undoubtedly, the failure of his fight show has given him something to think about in this connection. But the final returns are still out. One venture has failed, another may succeed.

Signs Talkie Contracts

I understand Dempsey has signed contracts for the talking pictures, involving a matter of $750,000, a stake big enough for any man's life time. He is said to have a guarantee of $150,000 for the first picture, but, to get any part of the remainder, that first picture must be something of a financial wow.

If it isn't, Dempsey may turn to the one thing that will get him the reward he wants—fighting. If it is, the crisis will have passed. Likewise Jack Dempsey,—from public life.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

AT NEW YORK—Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, won decision over Gaston Charles, of France 10.

AT PHILADELPHIA—Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight, won from Benny Bass, Philadelphia featherweight on foul 4.

AT BUFFALO, N. Y.—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo light-heavyweight, stopped Otis Gardner, of Pittsburgh 2.

AT NEWARK, N. J.—Vince Dundee, of Baltimore, outpointed Billy Aiger of Phoenix, Ariz., 10.

AT ALLENTOWN, Pa.—Henri Demuncker, of France, won decision over Babe Herman, California lightweight 10.

AT PITTSBURGH—Cuddy De Marco, of Pittsburgh, outpointed Phil Goldstein, also of Pittsburgh 10.

AT KANSAS CITY—Tiny Roebuck, Indian heavyweight, awarded newspaper decision over Walker Rich, of Kansas City 10.

AT CHICAGO—Tuffy Griffiths, Chicago light heavyweight, was awarded the decision over Harry Dillon of Canada, 10.

Joe Thomas, Iowa middleweight, stopped Tommy McFarland of Detroit, 1.

ARMY PLAYS DE PAUW

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 30—The Army coaches are not underestimating De Pauw, which plays here this week. The visitors have an excellent record and the Cadets may use some of the new plays they had been saving for Notre Dame.

GRIFFITHS IS VICTOR IN 10-ROUND FIGHT

White City Lad Chalks Up Fiftieth Victory in Ring

Chicago, Oct. 30—Half a hundred victories without a single defeat.

Tuffy Griffiths, Chicago light heavyweight, scored his fiftieth straight ring triumph at White City last night when he administered a severe 10-round lacing to Harry Dillon, the Canadian.

Little more than a year ago, Griffiths, fresh from Sioux City, Ia., was a mere preliminary "pork and beaner." Today, by virtue of his remarkable chain of victories and the class of men he has whipped, he looms as a foremost contender for the title held by Tommy Loughran.

In beating the tough Canadian last night, Griffiths appeared at the peak of his form. He had to be there to "take" Dillon, who gave him perhaps the toughest fight of his brilliant career.

It was anybody's fight up to the seventh round, both men battling at a furious pace on even terms. In the seventh frame however, Tuffy cut loose with so much fireworks it created the impression he had been "holding in." He won all four remaining rounds by wide margins. The judges and referee were unanimous in awarding him the decision.

ON COMEBACK

New York, Oct. 30—Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, today entertained visions of reaching the summit of the comeback trail as a result of his victory over Gaston Charles, clever French boxer, in a 10-round bout here last night. A rally in the last round gave Tony the nod.

STAR OUT

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 30—Johnny Garvey, Yale' big star, is in the infirmary as a result of the battering he took in the Army game, and will not be able to play until Yale meets Harvard on Nov. 24. The squad was given a hard workout yesterday in preparation for the Dartmouth game.

MAKES TRADE

McGraw Starts Shakeup of New York Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—New York fandom was convinced today that the deal which brought Fred Leach, Philly outfielder, to the Giants in exchange for outfielder Lefty O'Doul and cash is but the best of several trades planned by John McGraw to strengthen his team. McGraw is thought to have obtained Leach because of his superiority over O'Doul in fielding. O'Doul, formerly a pitcher, was a great star on the Pacific coast and outbatted Leach in the National league last season, .318 to .305.

SECRET PRACTICES IN ORDER AT STATE FOR TIGER BATTLE

Forward Wall To Bear Brunt of Attack on Saturday

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30—With a determination to make the Princeton game a stepping stone to more conference victories and the Big Ten championship crown, gridiron warriors of Ohio State university began intensive training in secret today for the clash with the invading eastern team, Saturday, at Ohio stadium.

For the second time this season the "closed practice" sign was placed on the huge canvass surrounding the Buckeye practice field, last night. On an official edict issued by Coach Jack Wilce, newspaper representatives and Buckeye fans will not be permitted to witness the workout this week while the Ohio mentor is shaping his team to withstand the claws of the Princeton Tigers.

Somewhat jubilant over their victory at Bloomington last Saturday, the Buckeye gridders started the week's practice with a light workout on the field, last night. Several hard workouts and one or two scrimmages with the freshmen eleven are docked for the squad this week, according to the coaching plans.

Although the Ohio backfield is expected to advance the ball through the Princeton wall and secondary defense, more is expected of the Ohio line which performed in excellent fashion against the Hoosier Saturday.

In spite of the high calibre backfield men Ohio State now possesses, the jewels of Dr. Wilce's football collection this year are believed to be included in the forward wall. This line includes: Foster, Surina, Alber, Raskowski, Reboulet, Young, Selby, Uhlehi, Griffith and Barratt.

Ohio's great line, one of the heaviest in years, has held the last two Big Ten opponents of Ohio State to a total of four first downs and has not permitted more than a half a dozen plays to get through to the secondary defense.

NEW FACES MAY BE IN LINEUP OF SYRACUSE

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30— Coach Andrews is reported to be dissatisfied with the work of some of the Syracuse regulars in recent games and indications are that some new faces will be seen in the lineup which will face Pittsburgh on Saturday.

IN LEAD

Chicago, Oct. 30—The Holland-Polish team of Pete Vanempen and Mike Rudak was still leading the field of six day bike racers at the end of the thirty-second hour today. Despite the spirited sprinting and jamming last night, no new leaders were crowned. Debeeles and Declerck are in second place, with Winter and Coburn edging comfortably in third position.

Even the fortune hunter sometimes has to pay a guide.

HARDING - MANSFIELD CLASH CLIMAX OF FOOTBALL SEASON

Marion Holds Best Record in North Central League

FOOTBALL battles may come and go but the one Saturday afternoon between Harding and Mansfield will climax the present season as far as the local aggregation is concerned.

Fate always plays an important part in such a game. Saturday will be no exception for the North Central league football title rests on the outcome of the game.

As far as records are concerned, Marion stands the best chance of winning. But past records mean little in such a game so the outcome is far from being a fixed fact.

Marion is on top of the N. C. O. standings by virtue of three victories and no defeats. Mansfield has played two league games not being so fortunate. They won one from but lost the other.

Glancing over other teams of the league, Ashland seems destined to a berth at the bottom of the standings having lost three straight starts. The college town boys sustained their latest setback at the hands of Shelby Saturday, 18 to 0.

Bucyrus is out of the running for the championship as a result of the defeat handed them by Harding. The Crawford county eleven holds one victory, one defeat and a tie game in three starts. Shelby, with one victory and a defeat, is tied with Bucyrus for third place in the loop standings. Galion is down in the next berth with only one victory in three starts.

Only one contest is on tap Saturday. That is the Harding-Mansfield clash at Mansfield. The standing of league teams to date follows:

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Marion	3	0	0	1.000
Mansfield	1	0	1	1.000
Bucyrus	1	1	1	.500
Shelby	1	1	0	.500
Galion	1	2	0	.333
Ashland	0	3	0	.000

CALL MONEY RULES ABOVE 7 PER CENT

Supply of Funds for Speculators on Exchange Not Heavy

ACCEPTANCES DOWN

Pre-Election Period Cuts Down Demand; General Trend Lower

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

New York, Oct. 30—Selling pressure directed against the industrial favorites today resulted in a gradual decline in prices in the active sections of the market, with only an occasional outstanding strong spot to signalize the support of the bullish interests and the influx of outside buying demand.

Call money on the stock exchange was in none too plentiful supply. The rate ruled at 7 1-2 per cent, and no particular easing off of the money market was looked for until after election. At some of the financial centers the rates on bankers' acceptances over the year-end were marked down fractionally, which was an important straw-in-the-wind for the more distant future in the money situation.

From the stock market's technical standpoint it was generally felt that the pre-election period was not the best time for acquiring new long lines of stock, particularly in view of the broad upward movement of prices in the last three months. The "path of least resistance" in industrial stocks was therefore downward in the first three hours, with the professionals ready to help the movement along with renewed short selling.

The oils and coppers were again under accumulation. The popular Standards of New York and New Jersey, as well as the independents like Sinclair and Marland sold up about a point on the average in the forenoon, to the accompaniment of rumors of important acquisition by powerful financial interests. The Sinclair company announced today the election of Arthur Cutten as a director, and it is possible that new alignments will in time change the whole personnel and form of operations of this well known enterprise.

CLEARINGS HIGHER

An increase of more than $36,000 over the same day a week ago was reported when bank clearing here yesterday totalled $148,670.27, according to clearing headquarters in the Marion National bank today. Bank clearings for a week ago Monday amounted to $112,583.42.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

The first charge of the hothouse tomatoes swept into the markets of Marion this morning when retailers reported arrival of hothouse tomatoes here.

The new variety of tomatoes was raised in Columbus hothouses, but dealers here also obtain them from Cleveland and Chicago. Quotations given on them this morning were from 30 to 35 cents a pound. Price on the regular variety of tomatoes raised in the open field, some of which may still be obtained here, is two pounds for 15 cents.

Green stuff is winning the majority of demand from local consumers, retailers report. Spinach, endive and carrots are the best sellers at present, but with practically all vegetables obtainable in quantity and the best varieties everyone taste may be satisfied.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 30—Grains closed uneven on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Wheat moved over an erratic course most of the time with prices averaging lower as a result of selling by locals and houses with Northwest connections. Buying was mainly by shorts and holders of privileges. Unresponsive cables caused some of the weakness. Export demand was moderate. Rains were reported in southern Argentine over the week end which will prove beneficial, and crop advices from Australia were favorable. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, in a statement regarding wheat estimates that possibly 6 per cent of the Canadian crop in the prairie provinces will grade feed, 15 per cent, No. 6 and 15 per cent No. 5. Liverpool closed 1⅜d higher and Buenos Aires was 1⅛@1⅝c higher at mid session. Canadian and domestic weather conditions were favorable, with clear skies over spring wheat and rain or snow over parts of the winter wheat belt.

Oats Unchanged

At the close wheat was ⅜@1½c lower; corn steady to ⅛c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c down, rye ⅜@⅞c lower. Winnipeg futures were 1⅛@1⅝c lower.

The local cash wheat market was steady. There was a good demand from milling interests. The trading basis was unchanged to ½c higher. Local shipping sales of wheat were 1,000 bu. The seaboard reported 350,000 bu. taken for export. Wheat and flour on ocean passage for the week increased 1,624,000 bu. and world's shipments this week were 17,055,000 bu. Canadian country marketings were 8,757,000 bu. against 6,218,000 bu. last year. Primary receipts were 3,140,000 bu. against 6,768,000 bu. last week and 2,512,000 bu. last year.

Corn Shorts Cover

Changes in the United States visible supply were: Wheat increased 3,481,000 bu.; corn decreased 802,000 bu.; oats decreased 302,000 bu.; rye increased 448,000 bu.; barley increased 118,000 bu.

Trade in corn was mostly of a local character. There was short covering early because of more rains over the eastern and southwestern territory and indications of showery conditions over nearby territory. There was not much pressure on the market but advances were not fully maintained. Cash demand for corn was fair. Country offerings to arrive light. The trading basis was 2@3c lower. The seaboard reported 100,000 bu. corn taken for export.

Local shipping sales of corn were 12,000 bu. Corn on ocean passage for the week decreased 1,232,000 bu. and world's shipments this week were 5,572,000 bu. Primary receipts totaled 1,517,000 bu. against 188,000 bu. last week and 1,330,000 bu. a year ago.

In the cash market, wheat was steady; corn 2@3c lower; oats steady to ½c off; rye steady; barley steady.

That the race is not always to the swift is the religion of the plowman.

Why we never "bargain" in diamond values

Diamonds are, in a sense, like money. The value of a genuine stone, like that of a dollar bill, is established. This value is based on definite qualities — color, brilliance, cutting — least of all on mere size or weight. Therefore, we can't "bargain" with you in diamonds. But we can offer you genuine stones — many of rare quality — all priced in exact relation to value.

CICCO SMILES AT VERDICT OF JURY

Declares He Is Overjoyed, While Girl He Shot Also Is Satisfied

AWAITS HIS SENTENCE

Attorneys Likely To Appeal Case to Higher Court, It Is Said

[illegible] Louis Cicco, former Lorain dry agent, [illegible] Miss Betty Heywood [illegible] assault and battery.

Cicco [illegible] shooting with intent to wound, was last night found guilty by a jury of six men and six women of the lesser charge of assault and battery.

[illegible] maximum fine of $500 or a maximum prison sentence of six months in the county jail or both.

The accused man said [illegible] "While his attorneys are expected to appeal, Cicco [illegible] 'I am overjoyed.'"

On the night of [illegible], Cicco and two other dry officers were stationed at a highway [illegible] in Lorain, on the lookout for a rum running automobile which they had been tipped would come into town that night.

Recovers from Wound

Miss Heywood, her father, Richard, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards, and their small daughter, all British people and residents of Elyria, passed the point where the officers were waiting in the Edwards automobile. The car was of a type similar to that for which they were looking, the officers said.

As the three men stepped out from the side of the road and commanded the car to stop, Mrs. Edwards, fearing robbers, urged her husband to disregard the challenge and drive away.

Several shots were fired. Cicco admitted that he did the shooting, and Miss Heywood, sitting in the rear with her father, was struck at the base of her skull. She has now apparently recovered completely from the wound though her eyesight was somewhat affected for a time.

Fellow Officers Suspended

Cicco contended that he shot at the pavement, not directly at the car, and that the bullet which hit Miss Heywood deflected up from the roadway. He and his two fellow officers, Patrolman Walter Knitter of Lorain and Deputy Sheriff Frank Kiely, were suspended. The other two still are under bond but no action has yet been taken against them by the county grand jury.

Had Cicco been found guilty of shooting with intent to wound, the charge on which he was indicted, he would have been sentenced to from one to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Though not in the courtroom when the jury brought in its verdict last night, Miss Heywood was advised of [illegible]

May Seek Damages

[illegible] It is believed that an action for damages will be filed against the officers on behalf of Miss Heywood. State Senator George Bender of Cleveland, president of the Constitutional Government League of Ohio, who has insisted that the three officers be punished, is understood to have urged that a civil suit for damages be filed in addition to the criminal charges.
